The Comfort Route

A woman with exquisite taste in dress.

A very feminine character, governed by instinctive impression rather than logical reasoning, self-willed to a degree, and not much influenced by others; with ability along creative lines, a sense of beauty, colour, harmony and style, and a far better head for business affairs than most people would suppose; but not sufficiently adaptable for this keen, competitive age, and probably lacks the necessary patience to co-operate with others.

The above is a Delineation of a reader's character from her handwriting. See others in the Weekly Irish Times

FEATURES OF THE AUSTIN
LIGHT TWELVE-SIX AND LIGHT TWELVE-FOUR.

THE Light Twelve-Six and Light-Twelve-Four models have this in common—they combine strength and rigidity of chassis construction with the minimum weight permissible.

SIMPLICITY of design, satisfactory performance, easy servicing, and economy in running, are some of the noticeable features of these models.

EACH engine is lively and flexible and is mounted on rubber bushes to absorb vibration. The frame is cross-braced and strengthened, the brakes are smooth and effective, and the springing comfortable and resilient.

THE third and top speeds have synchromesh engagement, and second, third and top speed gears are in constant mesh to ensure silent running.

THE cars are easily controlled by the light responsive steering and the conveniently placed central gear change lever. Over the steering wheel are the electric horn button and the finger tip controls for the headlamps.

Light Twelve-Sixes from £303.

CHICKENS AND GREEN FOOD.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—

When chickens are noticed to be slow about feathering it is often attributed to lice, and this is sometimes the cause, and, if so, treat as advised last week. There is another matter which should be attended to if the plumage is not in good order, as that sometimes is caused by blood impurity, which results in an unhealthy condition of the skin. Green food is necessary to combat this trouble, and this should be given freely. A little oil is also very good as a help to feather growth. Linseed oil meal can be given, and a few doses of cod liver oil are very effective. It will usually be noticed that the weak chickens are those which suffer in their plumage, while strong, healthy chickens usually feather so well that the change is scarcely to be detected.

MANCHESTER MARKETS REVIEW.

BUTTER IMPORTS.

FROM OUR COMMERCIAL CORRESPONDENT.

Business in all departments of the provisions trade during the past week has been of a holiday character, and, although buyers have shown little disposition to operate except to make good depleted stocks, quotations for most commodities remain steady. In butter the Danish official quotation has been wired three kroner higher, and "top" now stands at 138 kroner per 100 kilos. At the corresponding period of last year the figure was 140 kroner. Business in Continental has been on the quiet side. Irish creameries rule steady and Colonial very firm. According to official returns, the total imports of butter into this country during the first four months of the present year amounted to 3,262,804 cwt., as compared with 2,965,044 cwt. in the corresponding period of last year, and 2,694,038 cwt. in 1932. The exports of imported butter from this country during the first four months were 54,589 cwt., as compared with 28,225 cwt. and 230,229 cwt. in 1932. Quotas and various restrictions of imports of butter in some Continental countries are responsible for this falling-off. The general position of the butter market, however, is regarded as satisfactory, and, although ample supplies are coming forward, no decline in prices is expected in the near future. There is again little change to note in bacon, and a quiet feeling is reported for all cures. Irish and English show no alteration. So far as Continental is concerned, Polish has been officially advanced 2s. per cwt., but no quotable change is recorded in Danish, Swedish or Dutch. The market is fairly well supplied with eggs, which move steadily into consumption, and there has been no very marked fluctuation in prices.

LIVE-STOCK.

At the Manchester Cattle market on Tuesday all classes of live stock, especially lambs, were in fair supply, notwithstanding the holidays. Fat cattle met with a good clearance at firm figures. Sheep ruled steady for best clipped, but those in wool, which were of rather poor quality, had to be sold at the value. Lambs occasionally showed an easier tendency. Only light supplies were available at the Manchester Pig market. The unsettled state of the weather, coupled with the holidays, caused buyers to act sparingly; but, taken all round, late rates were about maintained. Business at the Manchester Meat market has been somewhat of a hand-to-mouth character, but a fairly steady feeling has prevailed in all classes of home-killed and imported.

Demand for best chickens and ducklings has been rather quieter, but sellers have shown no disposition to grant concessions to induce business. Salmon in better supply and offered at reduced prices as compared with last week, Irish being quoted 2s. 2d. to 2s. 6d. per lb. (wholesale).

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

Hely's, Ltd.—The report for the year ended March 31, 1934, states net profit amounts to £12,522, as against £11,786. £2,500 to depreciation, £3,000 to reserve. Directors recommend a final dividend of 7½ per cent. on Ordinary shares, making 12½ per cent. for year. (Same; £2,344 forward.)

Antofagasta, Chile and Bolivia Railway Co.—Report for the year ended 31st December, 1933, shows receipts were £591,017, against £534,592; working expenses £406,259, against £453,219; net receipts £184,758, against £71,373. After allowing for Debenture interest, etc., following appropriations were also made:—Renewal account £38,000, exchange reserve account £70,000; balance of £240,893 carried forward.

Commercial Fixed Trust.—A first half-yearly income distribution for the period November 27, 1933, to May 15, 1934, will be paid on June 15 at the rate of 3.7523d. net per sub-unit.

Investment Trust Corporation.—Net revenue for the year to May 1st, 1934, at £221,952, compared with £261,911 for 1932-33. Final dividend of 7 per cent. on Deferred, making 12 per cent., less tax, against 16 per cent. in the previous year Forward £240,144.

Joseph Burton and Sons, Ltd.—Trading profit £39,241, against £39,536. Dividend maintained on Ordinary at 7 per cent. and on Deferred at 5 per cent., leaving £25,295 to go forward after £5,000 to general reserve.

Salts (Saltaire).—Net profit for year to March 31 was £189,917, after £20,000 to depreciation account (against £11,395), plus £11,395 brought in. Preference dividends absorb £42,000; dividend of 1s. per share, or 100 per cent., on Preferred, £60,000, and dividend on Ordinary of 3d., or 25 per cent. (no dividends were paid in respect of 1932-33. Company was reconstructed in that period). After £50,000 to reserve, credit £34,312 is carried forward. Advance in wool prices is reflected in increased activity in all departments. Although competition is still severe, an improved demand has been experienced in the home trade, but the difficulties of trading with foreign markets, due to quotas, exchange and other restrictions, still remain. A scheme for the conversion of the 6 per cent. Debenture stock into an issue bearing a lower rate of interest is being arranged.

Scottish Australian Co.—Interim dividend 2½ per cent. on Ordinary. No interim payment in recent years, when finals have been 5 per cent.

Whessoe Foundry and Engineering.—Dividend of 5 per cent., less tax, proposed for year to March 31.

Financial News & Notes

LONDON STOCK MARKET FEATURES.

SOME IMPORTANT FACTORS.

GOLD MINES AND RUBBER SHARES.

FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON, Sunday.

The duller tendency exhibited by most sections of the Stock Exchange last week is not difficult to explain. Primarily, markets were affected by the disposition to close speculative positions towards the end of a 21-day account, a disposition that was eccentuated somewhat by the disappointing advices from New York, adverse rumours regarding the negotiations in connection with the German debt question, and some nervousness as to the outcome of the conference of the railway companies here and their employés. In regard to Industrial Ordinary shares, it has to be remembered, also, that during this year prices have risen very considerably, so that in some instances at least there would appear to be little scope for further appreciation yet awhile. Speculative sentiment was also influenced by the decline in the price of rubber and the disappointing course of the Rubber Share market.

THE QUESTION OF FREER LENDING.

It would not be a bad thing, perhaps, if the new Canadian Government Loan, the list for which will open and close to-day, proved to be the first of a series of important new issues, for such a development would represent a return to more normal conditions in the financial world. The breakdown of international trade was partly due to the fact that the creditor nations stopped lending to other countries to the extent of from £300,000,000 to £400,000,000 per annum, and economists consider that until there is freer international lending there can be no real recovery in world trade. In regard to these matters, it is difficult to see why the British Treasury still maintains the ban on new loans for foreign countries.

ADEQUATE SUPPLY OF CAPITAL.

Admittedly, investments of that character have not been satisfactory in recent years, and new foreign borrowers would have to offer something better than a high rate of interest in order to induce investors to subscribe, but the latter should be left to decide what issues should be supported or left alone. The maintenance of the ban cannot be due to a supposed necessity of reserving capital for the development of home industries, because at present there is more than enough money available for that purpose.

ELECTRIC SUPPLY SHARES.

For some time past Electric Supply shares have been gradually falling, not because of any heavy selling, but because of a cessation of buying. The reaction is not surprising, for quotations had risen to a point at which the yield in most cases was very small on the basis of the last annual dividends, though many investors apparently consider that such shares are among the choicest in the equity list. The set-back in prices has made the returns rather more attractive, and market dealers consider that the shares are worth attention again, especially having regard to the very small yield obtainable from certain Ordinary shares, the prices of which have been carried up on the strength of future prospects and possibilities. Probably, the most promising shares in the Electric Supply section are those of some provincial undertakings, such, for example, as North-Eastern, Newcastle and District, and Scottish Power, for dividends in the case of the London companies are almost a fixed quantity

A SUGGESTION.

A share with possibilities is Llanelly and District Electric Ordinary, for the company is a progressive one, and the £1 shares are quoted only about 4s. 6d. above par. On the last occasion the dividend was increased from 4½ to 5 per cent., and, although on the latter basis the current yield is quite moderate (little more than 4 per cent.), there is a reasonable prospect that in the not very distant future a much bigger dividend will be possible. The progressive character of the business may be gauged from the fact that in every year since 1929 the dividend has been increased. The amount of the Ordinary shares is £550,000, and on the last occasion considerably more than the 5 per cent. paid was earned.

A SPECULATIVE INVESTMENT.

It is considered that if the Government decided to extend substantial support to the shipping industry in order to enable it to withstand the competition of subsidised foreign vessels one of the best purchases in the equity group would be P. and O. Steam Navigation £1 units of Deferred stock. No dividend has been paid for more than two years, but the finances of the company are strong, and, with an improvement in general conditions, plus some help from the Government, it should be possible to resume payments. The last accounts showed reserves amounting to £5,150,000, while the investments in subsidiary shipping companies were returned at £10,588,665, and in other undertakings at £2,710,039. It is understood that the last-named item includes about 1,500,000 of Wm. Cory Ord. shares, in which company the P. and O. holds a controlling interest. These shares have a present market value of 4 1/16, which means that a holding of 1,500,000 is worth more than £6,000,000, or very much more than the book value of the whole of this item in the accounts. P. and O. Deferred units are now obtainable at 17s. 6d., but in the event of any favourable development it is virtually certain that they would command a considerably higher price.

KAFFIRS.

Now that fears of increased taxation this year have been removed, South African Gold shares are a much stronger market, and last week, a period which witnessed considerable dullness in various directions, several of the leading shares established fresh high record prices. The market is not as active as it was some time ago, but apparently much of the buying is of an investment character, induced by the expectation of good dividends for the June half of this year, the announcement of which will be made very shortly. Kaffirs are also helped by the confident belief that there will be no material reaction in the price of gold, while there is at least some chance of a still higher figure being touched, thus confirming the view which, according to reports, influenced the Union Government of South Africa in deciding not to increase taxation of the mining companies. Years ago the share of any gold mining concern would have been regarded as a sheer speculation, but now the best Kaffirs are looked upon as really sound investments, for the companies produce a commodity which is not likely to depreciate much, if at all, and the life of the mine can be gauged with a reasonable degree of accuracy.

RUBBER SHARES.

Owing mainly to the decline in the price of the commodity, Rubber shares have been a disappointing market of late, and, so far, have derived little more than a temporary benefit from the agreement to regulate production. This scheme is adversely criticised in some quarters, and admittedly it would have been better if prosperity could have been restored to the industry by less artificial methods. Still, it is a great improvement on the Stevenson scheme, and should enable the companies to earn satisfactory profits in the future. Brokers report a steady investment demand for the better-class shares, and this may explain the fact that prices have not given way much, despite the subsidence of activity and of speculative interest. Apparently, it would be foolish to dispose of shares simply because the market is passing through a dull phase, for the chances are that in due course a good return will be forthcoming in the shape of dividends. The restriction scheme will increase costs of production, but, with rubber in the neighbourhood of 5⅜d. to 6d. a lb., this increase should be met without difficulty.

LONDON MINING MARKET FIRM.

KAFFIRS POPULAR.

On Saturday the attendance of members in the House was comparatively small, and there was no doubt as to the preponderance of opinion in favour of the week-end closing.

The Mining Market still presented a very cheerful appearance, and, all things considered, business in several directions was fairly brisk. Gold shares were again in favour, and here and there an investment demand was in progress.

As regards Kaffirs, the demand was not so widespread as on Friday, but specialities were selected for attention, and among these Brakpan stood out prominently.

Rhodesians were harder inclined, but business was by no means brisk. A wider appreciation of the possibilities of West Africans led to an increased demand for some of the leaders, and values improved.

Tins were idle, and in the absence of inquiries one or two quotations were lower, but Australians gave a good account of themselves. Closing prices:—

TONE AND COMMENT

DUBLIN IDLE.

GUINNESS BETTER.

Dublin Stock market was very idle on Saturday, and the few transactions recorded were insufficient to test prices.

Free State Funds were firm. Land Bonds did not mark, nor did the War Loan. Banks were steady.

Guinness rose 6d. to 109s. 9d., Goulding Pref. repeated 104s. 3d., and Ranks (Ireland) 2?s 1½d.

Rails, Trams and Gas failed to quote.

The Industrial market was dull and featureless, and all the markings, except Imperial Tobacco, were at lower levels.

LONDON QUIET.

GOLD SHARES AGAIN ADVANCE.

It was not to be expected that Saturday's brief session in the London Stock markets would witness any material volume of trading, the more especially as it marked the close of the unpopular three-week account. A steady tone prevailed in most departments, while of the price movements registered at the end the bulk were favourable to holders. Gold shares again took the lead, and, with a good inquiry for new time in progress, prices strengthened materially. The close was rather under the best in a number of instances. Elsewhere Aviation descriptions kept remarkably firm, while several of the Miscellaneous Industrials scored good gains.

Little of interest transpired in the gilt-edged department, the few alterations which occurred being slight in extent and irregular in character. India Stocks finished without movement, and the Irish Free State Land Bonds repeated 109½ c.d. With the exception of the renewed weakness of German Sevens, Foreign Government Stocks preserved a steady appearance, and for the most part the previous day's values were repeated. Among German Bonds, the 7 per cent. sagged to 70½ as compared with 71⅞ previously, but the 5½ per cent. eventually showed an improvement of ½ to 49, after being lower.

British Rails failed to recover from their recent weakness, and, in the absence of support, quotations again went off fractionally. Colonial and Foreign Rails, although neglected, preserved a steady appearance.

Trading in the Industrial market was confined to modest limits, and few outstanding movements were shown, but, generally speaking, the undertone kept very firm. Attention was again directed to Aircraft descriptions, and quotations strengthened further. General Refractories, Savoy Hotel, Smart Bros., and Seagar Evans were other firm markets, while Trans-Atlantics displayed a slightly firmer tendency. Cables and Wireless, however, remained flat.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

AVIATIONS MAINTAINED.

Quiet conditions prevailed in most sections of the Industrial Market on Saturday, dealers being mainly occupied with preliminary arrangements for the carry-over. Here and there a little support was forthcoming, but generally the tone remained rather dull.

The trans-Atlantic counters presented a steadier appearance, but there was little doing on this side. "Emmies" fluctuated between 31s. 3d. and 32s., eventually closing a few pence easier on the day at 31s. 7½d.

Cables and Wireless stocks continued under the influence of the chairman's remarks at last Thursday's meeting, the Pref. closing ½ lower at 71 and the "A" Ord. ¼ lower at 17¼. Canadian Marconi receded to 9s. 6d.

Aviation and kindred descriptions continued to display firmness, with De Havillands again prominent, the shares being in keen request and further advancing 9d. to 65s.

In the Motor group Thomas Tilling failed to hold the preceding day's gain, the shares receding 1/16 to 5 1/16. Standards were a dull spot falling 1s. to 67s.

In the Iron, Coal and Steel section Wm. Cory remained on the dull side owing to dividend disappointment, the shares further declining 6d. to 79s. 9d.

Breweries ruled quietly steady on the whole. In the Alcohol section Distillers were well maintained.

Among Hotel and kindred issues Savoys hardened to 24s. 9d. Tobaccos generally showed little variation. Copes held their recent rise and Carreras were steady on the maintenance of the interim dividend. On the other hand, Gallahers, R. and J. Hill and Tobacco Securities Trust Deferred eased slightly.

Chief interest in the Drapery and Stores group centred around Marks and Spencer, which came into demand again.

Only a few changes, due to the levelling up of commitments, were seen in the Textile group. Bleachers and Calico Printers closed slightly harder, but J. and P. Coats receded further to 64s. 6d.

Rayons continued depressed pending further developments with British Celanese receding to 11s. 6d. and Courtaulds the turn lower. Both American and Canadian Celanese slipped back further.

In the Miscellaneous group Dunlops, Imperial Chemical, and United Molasses finished slightly easier, and Turner and Newall were a few pence lower, due to end-account realisations.

OIL SHARES DULL.

Although a fair number of dealers were in attendance in the Oil Share Market for the last Saturday opening till the end of the summer there was very little to reward them.

Advices received overnight in regard to the course of American Oil Stocks on Friday were satisfactory, higher prices coming over for several of the better-class shares.

A few small deals were put through without altering the tone of the market, although at the lower levels there were buyers of the leading counters at the end.

RUBBER SHARES NEGLECTED.

Extremely quiet conditions prevailed in the Rubber Share Market, and, in face of the entire absence of support, quotations disclosed a slightly easier appearance. A rather firmer tendency prevailed in the commodity market, and with a moderate amount of support accorded the values closed rather better. Thus spot and June fetched 6 1/16d. per lb., with July to September called 6 3/16d. to 6¼d. per lb., while October to December closed at 6¼d. per lb. and January to March at 6⅜d. per lb.

MOTOR SHARES.

Motors irregular. Aviations maintained. Napiers 14/6, Faireys 33/7½, Alvis and Fords lower. Triumphs 14/9, Dunlops 49/6.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Arklow Pottery, Ltd.

We publish to-day the full prospectus of the Arklow Pottery, Ltd., an enterprise the scope and objects of which have already been fully set forth in our columns. The prospectus should be carefully studied by investors, as the developments contemplated concern deeply an important and, if carefully managed, a paying industry. The authorised capital is not large, only £80,000 in equal amounts of Preference and Ordinary shares. The present issue at par consists of 35,000 6½ p.c. Cumulative Preference shares of £1 each, £35,000, and 30,000 Ordinary shares of £1 each, £30,000. Application may be made for either or both classes of shares, but in the allotment of Ordinary shares preferential consideration (in the proportion as nearly as may be of three Ordinary shares for every seven Preference shares) will be given to applicants for both Preference and Ordinary shares. The issue has been under-written by the Industrial Credit Company, and the promoters are applying for 15,000 Ordinary shares for cash, and these will be allotted in full. Dividends will be subject to 20 p.c. deduction in the income tax paid thereon. The company has been formed to build and equip a modern and first-class pottery at Arklow, County Wicklow, for the manufacture of porcelain, china, delph and pottery, earthenware and ceramic were of every description. With the assistance of the existing tariffs, the company hopes to be able to supply at least two-thirds of the home demand for these essential commodities. A suitable site has been secured on lease for a long term of years, at a nominal rent, and a factory on the most modern lines will be erected thereon. It is hoped that the factory may be sufficiently advanced to commence operations in sufficient time to place its goods upon the market for next year. Upon the estimated turnover of £100,000 per annum the directors anticipate a net yearly profit of £10,000, and on this basis the Preference dividend would be covered more than four times, and there would be left available substantial profits for distribution amongst the holders of the Ordinary shares. The board of directors is a strong one, and the management of the works will be in expert hands. The Bank of Ireland and branches will receive subscriptions, for which the list will open to-day and close on or before Wednesday next, and applicants may use the form attached to the prospectus in this issue.

Gold Share Records.

On several occasions recently we have referred to the favourable outlook for Kaffirs in view of the revised taxation proposals, and as regards gold shares generally, the prospect of a renewed advance in the price of the metal. A further influence is now making itself felt—namely, the cheapness of money (says The Sunday Times). Leading dividend-paying shares are being purchased by trusts, as well as by private investors, for the purpose of securing the return offered—a return larger than obtainable in almost any other direction. Hence the attainment of high records by the shares of companies such as Crown Mines, Daggafontein, the Geduld and Sub Nigels. Robinson Deep B are considered to be relatively undervalued. Naturally the shares of finance companies interested show sympathetic appreciation. Developments in sections of the East Rand Proprietary and in several neighbouring properties have given rise to the theory that certain reefs running through these properties contain rich pay shoots somewhat similar to those occurring in the Sub Nigel. At present this is no more than a theory; but the possibilities are distinctly interesting.

Overvalued Stocks.

Shareholders of Oswald Tillotson, Ltd., are anxiously awaiting the annual report and accounts in view of the extraordinary position revealed in a circular sent to them last week-end. We (Observer) understand that the documents may be expected on June 1, or immediately thereafter. The circular stated that as the result of a detailed investigation of the stock-in-trade of the engineering side of the company's business, the value of which had been regularly certified by the managing director, it was discovered that it was considerably below the amount taken in the company's books. The consequence was that the dividend due on the Preference shares on June 1 cannot be paid. The company, it will be remembered, is interested both in motor engineering and in motor transport. The latter side of its business has been substantially developed during the past three years, and is, the circular stated, continuing to develop satisfactorily. The difficulty which has arisen is confined to the engineering side concerned chiefly with the reconditioning and sale of used vehicles and spare parts. That side has been far from satisfactory, but the circular adds that the directors believe the present set-back is temporary. Naturally the quotation for the shares of the company has been severely affected by the position. The Ordinary are now quoted at 4s. and the Preference at 13s.

Last Week's American Dividend Indices.

According to the Standard Statistics Company, favourable dividend changes during the past week numbered 20, compared with 13 in the previous week and 15 in the week before. The unfavourable actions were 2, 7 and 3 respectively.

U.S Senate Committee Adopts Labour Bill.

The Senate Labour Committee has approved the Wagner Bill, which seeks to create an Industrial Adjustment Board for arbitration in labour disputes.

Compromise on United States Stock Market Control Measure.

Senate circles predict a compromise agreement following the inter-House conference on the Stock Exchange Control Bill. The agreement, it is reported, will be based on the retention of the margins required by the House and on the independent regulatory commission proposed by the Senate. Hitherto the Senate has insisted on giving the power to fix margins to the Federal Reserve Board, while the House has demanded a statutory margin requirement of 45 per cent. The Senate has held out for the administration of the bill to be vested in a new and separate regulatory body against the House's argument for supervision by the Federal Trade Commission. (Later)—The members of both Houses of Congress, in conference on the Stock Exchange Control Bill, have reached the agreement previously predicted.

Financial Barometers

Both the Evening Standard financial barometers hold steady and were virtually unchanged last week. The index of commodity prices is 0.1 up at 82.7, declines in rubber, copper and tin being offset by rises in cotton and wheat. At 112.7 the British Industrial Ordinary share index is unchanged. There were small declines in textile and electrical equipment shares, but compensating gains in iron and steel and motor issues.

No Big U.S. Bond Issue Now Contemplated.

It is reported from Washington that the Treasury has decided to defer indefinitely its earlier plans for the flotation of a large long-term funding loan, it being said that the market is not yet considered ready to absorb such a bond issue in the amount contemplated—namely, $3,000,000,000 (£600,000,000)—at a rate of interest not exceeding 3¼ per cent. It is understood that the Treasury now intends slowly to reduce the floating debt by the issue of moderately-sized bond loans at various times.

THE MONEY MARKET

INDIAN GOLD SHIPMENT.

The price of gold was on Saturday quoted ½d. lower, at 136s. 6d. per ounce fine. About £215,000 was in the market, and it is believed that this was bought on American account. The steamer leaving India last week has on board £430,000 in gold.

Silver declined 1/16d. on Eastern selling to 19⅛d. per ounce for spot and 19 3/16d. for forward delivery.

There was a fair demand for money owing to some of the Scottish banks calling in balances. Short loans usually commanded ¾ per cent. and some borrowers paid up to 1 per cent. for advances over the week-end. The tendency of discounts was firmer on Friday's Treasury bill results. Most houses quoted 11/16 per cent. for fine three months' bank bills, while the "hot" Treasuries were offered at 11/16 per cent.

In the Foreign Exchange market dollars opened weaker at 5.09, but subsequently improved to 5.09⅛, being a shade better on the day. French francs were steady around 77 1/16, while German marks weakened to 12.96½ on the gold loss of the Reichsbank.

PROSPECTUS.

The Company has been formed for the purposes specified in the Memorandum of Association and in particular to build and equip a modern and first-class Pottery at Arklow, County Wicklow, for the manufacture of Porcelain, China, Delph, and Pottery, Earthenware and Ceramic Ware of every description.

A very large demand exists in the Saorstat for these essential goods, the imports of which in the year 1932-3 amounted to upwards of £150,000.

With the assistance of the existing Tariffs, the Company hopes to be able to supply at least two-thirds of the demand for this essential commodity, and thus to replace the considerable volume of imports with home produced goods.

A suitable site at Arklow, near docks and rail, has been procured on lease for a long term of years, at a nominal rent, and a one-storeyed factory on the most modern lines will be erected thereon.

It is expected that employment will be given to about three hundred hands.

Estimates have been procured for a very complete installation of the necessary plant and machinery upon the most up-to-date lines, to carry out the various processes of manufacture, at a cost of about £22,000. The erection of the necessary Factory buildings, with the various incidentals, will, it is estimated, cost about £15,000. There will accordingly be available for working capital over £20,000, which the Directors are satisfied is fully ample to meet the requirements of the Company and of the Trade.

It is hoped that the Factory may be sufficiently advanced to commence operations in sufficient time to place its goods upon the market for next year.

As will be seen, the Promoters are themselves taking up in cash 15,000 of the Ordinary Shares. Senator O'Rourke, who is prepared to act as Managing Director of the Company, has for many years been prominently associated with the manufacture of the world-famous Belleek China. Mr. Hoffman has for many years been one of the leading Distributors in the Irish business, and is prepared to undertake the distribution of the Company's products. The services of an expert Manager have been secured.

Upon the turnover, which is estimated at approximately two-thirds of the demand of the home market, that is to say a turnover of £100,000 per annum, it is reasonable to anticipate a net yearly profit of £10,000.

On this basis the Preference dividend would be covered more than four times and there would be left available substantial profits for distribution amongst the holders of the Ordinary Shares.

Under Contract No. 3 below The Industrial Credit Company, Limited, has agreed to underwrite the entire amount of this Issue, with the exception of the 15,000 Ordinary Shares to be subscribed for by the promoters, for an underwriting commission of 2 per cent. and an over-riding commission of 1 per cent., and to pay the brokerage mentioned below on the shares not being subscribed for by the promoters of the Company, the cost of printing and advertising the Prospectus and other incidental expenses of this Issue up to and including the posting of the Letters of Allotment, in consideration of a further cash payment to them of £1,500.

STATUTORY INFORMATION.

The Articles of Association contain (inter alia) the following:—

(6) The minimum subscription upon which the Directors may proceed to allotment in the case of the first allotment of any shares payable in cash is seven shares of £1 each, and no allotment shall be made of any share capital of the Company unless the said minimum subscription has been subscribed and the sums payable on application shall have been paid to and received by the Company, but this provision is no longer to apply after the first allotment of shares offered to the public for subscription has been made.

33.—(a) The Directors may decline to register any transfer of shares upon which the Company has a lien; and in the case of shares not fully paid up, may refuse to register a transfer to a transferee of whom they do not approve, without assigning any reason for such refusal. The Directors may refuse to register a transfer when in the opinion of the Directors registration would result in an infringement of the provisions of the Control of Manufactures Act (No. 21) of 1932, or of any Act amending or extending the said Act.

(b) No transfer shall be made to an infant or person of unsound mind.

(50) The rights and privileges attached to any class or classes of shares in the Company's capital may be modified, commuted, affected, abrogated, or dealt with by agreement between the Company and any person purporting to contract on behalf of the class, provided that such agreement is (a) ratified in writing by the holders of at least three-fourths of the nominal value of the issued shares of the class, or (b) confirmed by an extraordinary resolution passed at a separate general meeting of the holders of shares of the class, and all the provisions hereinafter contained as to general meetings (save Article 67 hereof) shall, mutatis mutandis, apply to every meeting of the holders of the shares of any class, but so that the quorum thereof shall be members holding or representing by proxy one-fifth of the nominal amount of the issued shares of such class. This Article is not to derogate from any power the Company would have had if this Article were omitted.

(51) The Directors may, from time to time, at their discretion, raise or borrow or secure the payment of any sum or sums of money for the purposes of the Company, but so that the amount at any one time owing in respect of moneys so raised, borrowed, or secured shall not, without the sanction of a general meeting, exceed the sum of Ten Thousand Pounds. Nevertheless, no lender or other person dealing with the Company shall be concerned to see or inquire whether this limit is observed.

(52) The Directors may raise, or secure the repayment of, such sum or sums in such manner and upon such terms and conditions in all respects as they think fit, and in particular by the issue of debentures or debenture stock of the Company, charged upon all or any part of the property of the Company, both present and future including its uncalled capital for the time being.

(74) On a show of hands every member present in person shall have one vote, and upon a poll every member present in person or by proxy shall have one vote for every share held by him. Provided that the holders of Preference Shares shall have no right to receive notice of, or to be present at, or to vote either in person or by proxy at any general meeting by virtue or in respect of their holdings of Preference Shares, unless their preferential dividend shall be twelve months in arrear, or unless a resolution is proposed affecting the rights or privileges of Preference Shareholders. Where a corporation being a member is present by a person duly authorised under Section 68 of the Companies Act, but who is not a member, such person shall be entitled to vote for such corporation on a show of hands or on a poll.

(86) The qualification of a Director shall be the holding of at least one hundred Ordinary Shares in the Company of the nominal value of £1 each.

(88) The Directors shall be paid out of the funds of the Company by way of remuneration for their services at the rate of £400 per annum, and such further sums as the Company in general meeting may from time to time determine, and such remuneration shall be divided among them in such proportions and manner as the Directors may determine, and in default of such determination within the year equally. The Directors shall be repaid all travelling and other expenses incurred by them while engaged upon the business of the Company or in attending or returning from Board meetings.

(103) The remuneration of a Managing Director shall from time to time be fixed by the Directors, and may be by way of salary or commission or participation in profits, or by any or all of those modes.

(111) If any Director, being willing, shall be called upon to perform extra services, or to make any special exertions in going or residing outside the Irish Free State, or otherwise, for any of the purposes of the Company, the Company shall remunerate the Director so doing, either by a fixed sum or by a percentage of profits, or otherwise, as may be determined by the Directors, and such remuneration may be either in addition to or in substitution for his share in the remuneration above provided.

(138) A printed copy of such Account, Balance Sheet, and Report shall seven days previously to the meeting be served on the registered holders of shares in the manner in which notices are hereinafter directed to be served, and three copies of these documents shall at the same time be forwarded to the Secretary of the Stock Exchange, Dublin.

No Shares of the present Issue have been or are proposed to be issued as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash. No Shares of the Company are under option.

The following contracts which are or may be material have been entered into, other than contracts in the ordinary course of business:—

(1) Indenture of Lease dated May 22nd, 1934, made between the Arklow Harbour Commissioners and the Company whereby the lands therein specified, comprising 4 acres, 1 rood, 19 perches, Statute measure, were leased to the Company for the term of 999 years from the 25th day of March, 1934, subject to the yearly rent of £5 and to the covenants on the lessee's part and conditions therein contained. (2) Indenture of conveyance dated May 17th, 1934, made between the Parnell Quarries, Arklow, 1915, Limited, and the Company whereby in consideration of 10/- there was assigned to the Company the plot of ground therein mentioned to hold for the unexpired period of 84 years and 6 months from June 1st, 1909, subject to the yearly rent of one shilling. (3) Dated May 22nd, 1934, between the Company and The Industrial Credit Company, Limited, being the above-mentioned underwriting and issuing agreement.

The Preliminary Expenses are estimated at £3,750 and are payable by the Company.

A copy of the Memorandum of Association, together with the names, addresses and descriptions of the Signatories thereto, and the number of Shares subscribed for by each, is printed in the fold of this Prospectus and forms part thereof.

If any application is not accepted in full the surplus paid on application will be applied towards the amount payable on allotment and any balance returned to the applicant. If no allotment is made the amount paid on application will be returned in full. Failure to pay any instalment on the due date will render the amount previously paid liable to forfeiture and the relative allotment liable to cancellation. Interest at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum may be charged on amounts overdue. Payment may be made in full after allotment, but no discount will be allowed.

Share Certificates will be ready for delivery in exchange for fully-paid Allotment Letters within two months after the date of the Allotment.

Copies of the Memorandum and Articles of Association and of the above-mentioned Contracts and the original of the above-quoted letter from the Department of Finance may be inspected at the offices of Arthur Cox, 42-43 St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, during business hours on any day while the Subscription List remains open.

A brokerage at the rate of 3d. per Share will be paid to Bankers, Brokers and Financial Houses on all Shares allotted to the public in respect of applications bearing their stamp.

Application for the Shares should be made on the accompanying Form and lodged with the Bank of Ireland, College Green, Dublin, and branches, together with a cheque for the amount payable on application.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY.

Trinity Monday : Early Mushrooms : An Irish Producer. Bath : A Guard's Dilemma.

Bath.

Your article on Bath chairs and their passing reminds me (writes a correspondent) of a visit I paid to Bath last summer. In glorious weather this dream city of the west seemed romance incarnate. Lively, bright, full of fine modern shops which were surprisingly cheap considering it is a fashionable health resort. The restaurants were models of what restaurants ought to be. Most moderate tariffs and delicious food could be found in any of them. Outside the pump room were clustered a number of the famous chairs looking not unlike miniature hansom cabs. They fitted into the atmosphere of the place. One felt that everywhere flitted the ghosts of the gay Georgians and the remoter, but no less gay, Roman legionaries. Beside the pump room towers the huge pile of Bath Abbey. On its west front are most unusual carvings commemorating a dream of the founder, Offa, King of Mercia. Stone ladders run up the flanking turrets, and up these clamber angels striving to reach Deity enthroned on top. A couple of angels have failed to make the pace and are depicted falling head downwards. Inside the Abbey is truly wonderful. Great pillars soar to the roof to break into fan shapes so delicately wrought that they seem as if made by fairy hands. In the same square as the Abbey and the pump room is a house where the painter Gainsborough spent much time, and near at hand is the inn, "The Saracen's Head," immortalised by Dickens.

The Roman Baths.

One of the chief attractions is, of course, the baths. In the Pump Room itself a medicinal spring is bubbling. All round lie the modern baths for specialised treatment. A hospital nurse conducts visitors through these at top speed and with a wealth of highly technical description which, luckily, no one understands. All round again and intersecting the modern baths lie the ancient Roman ones. Through these one is conducted by a bearded elder in uniform, who spoke quietly and intelligently. Here we leaned on chains looking down on the marvellous heating system and lead piping. We stood on the steps of the great bath on the very spot where once had stood bronzed Roman soldiers on leave from far, out-flung stations. The water was green and hot; yet goldfish swam in it, surprisingly enough. Superbly healthy fish they must be! Finally we arrived at a large cupboard. The doors were opened and steam burst out. This was the famous hot spring, natural hot water bubbling out of the earth, bubbling out long before the Roman occupation. An inspection of jewellery dug out of the baths and a model of the whole system of the baths filled up the rest of our time.

Trinity Monday.

I have had a letter from my old friend, Francis Clements Coulter, who is now a man of considerable affairs on Wall street, and he tells me that the Trinity College (Dublin) Association is going strong in New York. He is secretary of the local branch of the Association, and those who know him will realise that he is an ideal man for the job. He has arranged a Trinity Monday dinner at the Gotham Hotel, Fifth Avenue, to which a host of Trinity men have been invited. The attendance will include Professor and Mrs. John L. Synge—Professor Synge, who is a brother of the distinguished Dublin consultant, Dr. V. M. Synge, and a nephew of the playwright, was a Fellow of Trinity some years ago, but resigned to become Professor of Mathematics at Toronto University—Dr. G. D. Saunderson, Dr. C. F. Buhler, Mrs. E. M. Claussen, M.D.; Mrs. A. M. McCourt, Messrs. H. Poë Alton, A. P. Fitt, R. E. A. L'Estrange, A. P. Ross, T. M. ("Tim") Dowling, John Hall Magowan (from the British Embassy at Washington), the Venerable J. de B. Saunderson, the Rev. Frank M. Townley, and Mr. Coulter himself in the chair. I see all the makings of a great night in that party, particularly if "Tim" Dowling turns up!

The Guard's Dilemma.

While watching the "Round the Houses" motor race at Bray recently one could not help noticing the efficient manner in which the members of the Gardai performed their duties along the "course." A friend who happened to be with me told an amusing story of a guard in a southern town who was placed in a somewhat awkward position. The guard had been celebrating a certain event in connection with his family, and found that when he had to go on duty he was not quite as steady as he would have wished. However, as the duty allotted to him was barrack duty he had only to stand outside the barrack door, represent the majesty of the law, and look dignified. Unfortunately, a civilian came along who was also the worse for liquor, and was in a somewhat hilarious mood. As he came abreast of the guard outside the barrack, he proceeded to dance and then spar up to the guard as if he intended to engage him in fisticuffs. The guard felt that as long as he stood still all was well, but if he moved even a little the result might be disastrous, so he addressed the civilian thus: "Will you take yourself to hell out of this, or you'll get the two of us taken!" The civilian took in the situation at a glance and good-naturedly departed.

With an Irish Producer.

Another of the many housing schemes valiantly endeavouring to lessen London's slums—that of Southwark, which aims at converting large houses into good, cheap flats—has many well-known women working hard for its matinée at the Scala on June 5th. Countess Howe, as honorary treasurer, is appealing for support; the Hon. Eleanor Norton is chairman of its committee, while its long list of patrons includes the three "Dames"—Laura Knight, Sybil Thorndike and Emily Penrose—distinguished in various arts, and a poetess, Lady Margaret Sackville.

The play to be performed, entitled "Ariel," is the work of a woman, Mrs. Grace Carlton, B.A., whose play, "Festival," produced last November at the Lyceum Club, was very favourably received. The producer is the gifted young Irishman, George More O'Ferrall, and the cast comprises players well known in the West End.

Mr. O'Ferrall's father was a well-known doctor, practising mainly in England, but belonging to an old Irish family. The young man himself has already won recognition in London as the producer of worth-while plays in a very interesting manner.

Early Mushrooms.

Field mushrooms have already fallen as low as 1s. 4d. a pound in the Dublin shops—a remarkable price for the time of year. The forced mushrooms still fetch from 4s. to 4s. 6d., and in other years no field mushrooms were obtainable as early as May. Large in size, and of a particularly delicate flavour, these early mushrooms seem rather darker than those that appear later in the year. It is noticeable, however, that, as a rule, the skin of the present mushroom is more difficult to remove than that of the later variety. I noticed a basket of very large ones in a Dublin shop yesterday that reminded me of the "Schirmpilze," or "Umbrella Mushroom," which grows in the Austrian woods. This mushroom looks to the uninitiated like a fungus, being three to four inches square, and darkly serrated on the underneath portion. In the cooking one specimen will fill an entire pan; they are often used in this way or divided and cooked in sections. Its flavour is rather "meaty," and altogether unlike the sister wood mushroom that grows beneath the needles of the pine trees in Austria, Germany and France.

QUIDNUNC.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

FACTORY CONDITIONS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—From the reports of the discussion in the Dail on Thursday, 24th instant, Mr. Lemass would seem to have suggested that wages in the furnishing and packing trades are controlled by Trade Boards. But this is incorrect, although we understand that preparations are being made to set up a Trade Board for the packing industry. In any case a Trade Board cannot remedy the worst evils in such industries. It can only deal with the question of wages and hours, and, because of the limited number of inspectors, not even adequately with that side of the problem. It has only a very limited power in regard to the number of juveniles a factory may employ, and no power at all in regard to working conditions. For years past the trade unions have been protesting against the unhealthy, comfortless and hideous conditions of so many so-called factories.

Such conditions have for long been a crying evil in the tailoring and clothing industries, but the new packing industry promises to rival their reputation; and it is not only the worker who has cause for complaint in this matter. It is not a pleasant reflection for the consumer that garments may be made under filthy conditions, perhaps in a tenement house; or that foods, medicines and cosmetics may be packed in dirty premises by the poorest of little girls without provision for necessary cleanliness.

Mr. Norton did well to draw attention to the need for more factory inspectors. The present number is hopelessly inadequate and the Factory Acts are hopelessly out of date. The Minister for Industry has promised drastic amendments. But how long must we wait for them? And in the meantime there is already in existence the Apprenticeship Act, which could do much to improve the lot of the juvenile workers. But though it has been on the Statute Book for two years it has not yet been applied to any one industry. For this failure I think we have to thank the employers. But why should the Government allow one selfish section of the community to block the operation of an Act which would benefit the health, the morals and the minds of young workers?

Still further legislation is required to deal with the matter of factory and workshop premises. My organisation have strongly urged that these premises should be under a licensing system, which would make hygienic conditions compulsory. We believe that we have the support of all enlightened employers behind us in this demand. But we need also the support of public opinion for a higher standard in regard to suitable working conditions. The standard in this country is deplorably low. We are not sufficiently aware of the extent to which our industrial prosperity must depend upon the environment of the workers. It is surely inevitable that gloomy, dirty and badly ventilated premises must react unfavourably upon output, both in quality and quantity.—Yours, etc.,

LOUIE BENNETT, Secretary,
Irish Women Workers' Union.

PUBLIC MORALS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Our laws relating to public morals, especially as regards the protection of girls and women, fall sadly behind those of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. The committee set up to inquire into the Criminal Law Amendments Acts issued its report two years ago, but it has been withheld, not only from the general public, but also from senators, deputies and the witnesses. Notwithstanding considerable pressure brought to bear on the Government by different bodies, nothing has yet been done to translate the recommendations of this report into a bill. Many vague promises have, no doubt, been given, but all of them remain unfulfilled.

Some weeks ago, Mr. Ruttledge, in answer to a question put by Mr. E. O'Neill, T.D., in the Dail, gave a very definite promise that he would introduce the long-expected bill "in a few weeks." On behalf of a group of educated women, who are keenly interested in child welfare and the protection of girls and women, may I say that we heartily welcome the assurance of the Minister for Justice that he is about to introduce a bill in the immediate future, and that we trust he will leave nothing undone to expedite its passage into law.—Yours, etc.,

WINIFREDE HOLDEN,
Assistant Hon. Secretary, "Women's Social Study Guild," 42 Cabra road, Dublin.

FREE STATE'S FALLING TRADE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Your contributor's notes on the illuminating trade graph and diagram which you publish to-day seem to me to err seriously on the side of a too moderate presentation of the facts.

In 1929 our total exports, as portrayed in your graph, were £49,000,000, and the "adverse" trade balance was £11,000,000—or just 23 per cent. Last year the value of our exports was £19,000,000, and the adverse balance £17,000,000 thus showing an increase in four years to more than 88 per cent.! During the intervening years exports fell rapidly, and annual adverse balances rose steadily; a process which there is every reason to believe still continues. Is it not evident that such "progress" is "down a steep place into the sea?"—Yours, etc.,

MONKSTOWN AND DALKEY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—With reference to the proposed Monkstown to Dalkey roadway extension, might I point out that there is already a fine inland road from Monkstown via Sallynoggin and Glenageary to Saval Park, forking here, one branch leading to the tram line at Castlepark and the other (Barnhill road) running right into Dalkey town? There is also the recently opened through coastal road from Blackrock (Seapoint avenue) to Sandycove avenue, East—but there it stops, and cars have to turn on to the narrow tram-lined, 'bus-infested road for a few hundred yards, and then negotiate the awkward Bullock bend in order to regain the coastal road. Were the connecting link made between Sandycove avenue and Harbour road, there would be a through coast road from Blackrock (Seapoint avenue) to Bray, and if engineering, financial and other considerations permitted it, it seems to me to be a more needful improvement than the comparatively unnecessary extension from Eden Park to Castlepark and Dalkey.—Yours, etc.,

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE NOTES.

THE I.S.A. CONGRESS.

SOCIETY ELECTIONS.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

THE programme for the Irish Students' Association Congress in June was published on Friday. This will be the third annual congress organised by the I.S.A., and will be held in College this year from June 26th to 30th, the two previous congresses having been held in Belfast and Cork. In addition to the five days of the congress arrangements have been made whereby delegates may extend their visit over the week-end to July 2nd. The programme published on Friday, while it is mainly a provisional one, is very interesting, and bids fair to make the congress a success. The social arrangements include dances on the first and last evenings of the congress, a ceilidhe on Thursday, 28th June, and a performance by the College Dramatic Society on Wednesday, 27th. The mornings will be taken up with debates and papers, among which will be papers by Dr. J. J. Drumm and Mr. R. Munn May, Secretary of the National Union of Students, and among other attractions will be a tour of the city, and afternoon visits to Howth and Greystones. Entry forms and full particulars of the congress may be had on application to Mr. Ruadhri O Brolchain, Congress Secretary, or at the S.R.C. office.

The past week has been an active one among the College societies, most of which were engaged with elections for the coming session and annual general meetings. At a meeting of the Commerce Society the committee for next year was elected, and consists of Misses Elizabeth Moynihan, M. Bell, and Mairin Sheehy and Mr. James Troy. It was announced by the Auditor, Mr. Denis O'Donovan, that the annual excursion of the Society will be held on Saturday, June 9th.

At the annual general meeting of the English Literary Society, Miss Elizabeth Curran was elected secretary. The other candidate was Mr. Donagh MacDonagh, and Miss Curran was elected by a small majority. Miss Curran was the first lady editor of Comhthrom Feinne, and edited the number which appeared during the week. It was an interesting number, though it erred on the serious side, and attracted considerable attention on account of the change in editorship. The usual custom of having one editor for two numbers has not been adhered to on this occasion, and Mr. S. B. Walsh has been appointed editor for the next and last number for the term. Mr. Walsh will be the first member of the Medical School to produce a number of Comhthrom Feinne. The other members of the committee of the English Literary Society include Miss Paula Mecklenburgh, Miss Margaret Montgomery and Mr Samuel Hall, B.A.

"INTERMEZZO."

The History Society met on Friday evening, and Rev. J. P. O'Daly, O.P., read a paper on "Portugal, Past and Present." The lecture was illustrated by a short "travel" film of Portugal, and attracted a large audience. Professor Mary Hayden was in the chair.

The members of the Société Francais presented, on Wednesday night, a modern three-act French comedy, "Intermezzo," by Jean Giraudoux, in the Council Chamber. "Intermezzo" was an excellent choice of play for the Society, and treats in a whimsical manner of life in a French provincial town. The cast was well chosen—particularly Dr. Louis Roche as the School Inspector of the Department, Miss Moya Devlin as the Schoolmistress, and Mr. Desmond Fitzgerald as the Ghost. Among the remainder of the total cast of eighteen were Miss Maria Viani, Miss Maura O'Carroll, Miss Nancy Potter, Miss May Fox, Mr. J. J. Hogan, Mr. A. F. Comyn, and Mr. Pierce Fitzgerald. The production of French plays has been a prominent part of the work of the Société Francais during the past year or two, mainly through the efforts of Mlle. Henri, who produced "Intermezzo" as well as most of the other successes of the Society. The election of officers of the Society for the next session will be held soon.

The Auditorial election in the Literary and Historical Society will take place to-morrow morning in the Council Chamber. The candidates are Mr. R. N. Cooke, ex-Auditor of the Commerce Society, and Mr. Alfred J. O'Dwyer, B.A., both prominent members of the Society during the past few years. Mr. Ayndries O Cuiv has been appointed Returning Officer for the election, and the Legal Assessor appointed by the candidates is Mr. J. C. Flood, M.D. The roll of members numbers only sixty-five, and the result will be announced at the meeting of the Society on Saturday night.

THE THANKSGIVING MASS.

At the University Athletic Union Swimming Championships in Manchester, the hopes of the College club were dashed by the inability to compete of Mr. M. J. Halton, who had been entered for the 220 and 440 yards championships. The squadron, however, won its way to the final, and the club was placed fifth in the championships. It is announced that Colours have been awarded to Messrs. D. J. Coveney and L. B. McDermott, of the Boxing Club, who recently won the light-weight and bantam-weight titles in both the Junior Inter-University and British Universities' Championships.

The Swimming Club announces that it is intended to organise an Irish Universities' Swimming Championships, and that the contest will be held in Dublin during the Congress of the Irish Students' Association in [illegible].

On Saturday an Cumann Gaedhealach held the annual "turas" to Greystones. The attendance of members was very large, and a most enjoyable day was concluded with a ceilidhe. The committee of the Society recently elected includes Mr. Kevin Golden, secretary; Miss Maura O'Carroll, treasurer; and Miss Maura Murray, Miss Nessa O'Shea, and Mr. Niall Brunicardi.

At a meeting of the Scientific Society, Mr. F. P. Russell was elected secretary for the coming session. The other members of the committee include Mr. V. H. Guerrini, B.Sc., and the Misses I. Carey, G. Kennedy and Kathleen Boylan. The secretary of the Chemical Society for next session is Mr. M. J. Bowers.

On Friday morning the annual Thanksgiving Mass was celebrated in the University Chapel by the Rev. M. O'Halloran, Dean of Residence. This Mass is held every year in the last term, and there was a large attendance of students.

Visitors to the college during the week included the Examining Body of the British Institute of Architects, who were entertained on Friday by the President, Dr. D. J. Coffey, and the Dean of the Faculty of Architecture, Professor Rudolph M. Butler.

CLONGOWES UNION.

YEAR OF MARKED PROGRESS.

REPORTS AT ANNUAL MEETING.

SPLENDID weather favoured the gathering of the members of the Clongowes Union at Clongowes Wood College, Co. Kildare, yesterday, and it was not surprising to find an attendance that ran into several hundreds.

The members of the Union and their relatives and friends were received on arrival by the Father Rector and the President, and they spent the interval before lunch in inspecting the College and grounds, which were looking at their best.

After luncheon there was a full programme of outdoor sports. The annual cricket match was, as usual, one of the features of the day, and on this occasion the present pupils proved altogether too good for the past pupils.

There was a big gallery for the tennis finals and also for the athletics, in which such events as sack and three-legged races provided a lot of fun.

After the prizes had been distributed there was Solemn Benediction and the visitors departed.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The thirty-seventh annual general meeting of the Union was held in the large study, the President (Mr. J. M. FitzGerald, K.C.) in the chair.

The report stated that during the past year the Committee had held a number of functions, including the annual dinner and dance, at both of which there was an increased attendance.

For the first time in the history of the Union a week-end 'Retreat' for past Clongownians was held at the College on 1st July, 1933, with an attendance of over fifty members. A similar Retreat will be held this year, beginning on Saturday, 30th June, and ending on Monday morning, 2nd July. The number of members of the Union was now 440, compared with 252 last year.

The Union Gold Medal for Religious Knowledge was awarded to Patrick Ahearne, and silver medal to Anthony Murphy. The Union Gold Medal for English Essay was awarded to William O'Dwyer, and the silver medal to Alexis J. Fitzgerald.

The adoption of the report was moved by Mr. C. Reddin, and seconded by Mr. P. J. O'Hagan.

Captain Gerald Quinn suggested that they should form in Dublin a small debating society, or something like that, which could meet once a fortnight at a luncheon to discuss matters, more or less in the manner of Rotary. What he was aiming at, he said, was a Clongowes Club, but that was a big and expensive proposition, and he was suggesting the society as the thin end of the wedge.

Mr. M. P. Murphy, hon. treasurer, pointed out that the Union was not only the first Union, but was also the largest in Ireland.

The President, putting the motion, said that they were under the deepest debt of gratitude to their hon. secretary (Mr. R. T. O'Hara) and their hon. treasurer. Not only had the membership of the Union doubled during the past twelve months, but possibly for the first time they had a balance on the year's working of £30. He regretted that more members who were eligible had not become life members.

The report was carried unanimously.

ELECTIONS.

The Father Rector (the Very Rev. Fergal McGrath, S.J.) then took the chair, and proposed the re-election of the outgoing President, Mr. J. M. Fitzgerald, K.C. He said that Mr. Fitzgerald was a model president and a most efficient chairman. He had presided at their debates and had presented very handsome prizes both for the debates and for that day's sports.

Mr. N. M. Purcell seconded the motion, and it was passed with acclamation.

Dr. J. Meenam and Mr. G. P. Cussen, District Justice, were elected vice-presidents, and the following were elected members of the committee:—Messrs. D. A. Chance, T. A. Bradley, E. Treacy, C. E. Reddin and P. J. O'Hagan.

The president proposed a vote of thanks to the Father Rector and the community for their kindness in enabling the Union to meet there.

The motion was carried.

The Father Rector, replying, paid a tribute to the memory of the Rev. Henry Fegan, S.J., and Judge Bodkin. He also referred to the death of Mr. Daniel Doolin.

Dealing with the school year, he said that they had reason for being proud of the Union after hearing the annual report. The examination results last summer were well up to the usual high level. In the Leaving Certificate all their candidates passed, nine with honours. In the Intermediate Certificate, out of 47 candidates, 40 passed, 24 with honours.

The outstanding event of their year was the Roman pilgrimage on March 28th. Fifty present and past Clongownians were received in private audience by the Pope. In 1815, just six months after the foundation of Clongowes, Daniel O'Connell wrote to the then Rector, Father Peter Kenny, a letter still preserved in the College archives, in which he stated that he could think of no better school to which to send his sons than Clongowes. It was good to hear the Vicar of Christ within the walls of the Vatican allude to that fact and bless the College of which the Liberator thought so well.

They had to record a successful dramatic season. Their Irish version of Henri Gheon's "La Parade du Pont au Diable" was so successful that it was entered for the dramatic competition at the Dublin Feis, and was awarded 95 per cent. tieing with the highest marks awarded. This year, with a view to perfecting their Irish, thirty of the boys were going to Ballingeary for a month during the summer vacation, under the care of three of the community.

The Debating Society, another outstanding feature of Clongowes life, also had had a very successful year.

In athletics their usual high standard had been maintained. They won the Schools' Swimming Squadron Championship for the third time in succession. In the Schools' Football Cup they were only defeated by the narrowest of margins by the ultimate Cup winners. In the schools' athletics they were awarded eleven medals, and established a record for the intermediate relay race.

SPECIAL PRIZES.

In addition to the Union prizes mentioned (Continued in Next Column.)

"STARS'" FEAR OF KIDNAPPERS.

EXTRAORDINARY PRECAUTIONS.

THE SCREEN IN DUBLIN THIS WEEK.

FROM OUR CINEMA CORRESPONDENT.

THE kidnapping "racket" still proceeds merrily in the United States, and Hollywood is getting more attention than it wants. Film "stars" have redoubled their precautions, and the elaborate measures they are taking for their defence show clearly how serious the situation has become for them. In this country the idea of a man converting his home into a fortress against kidnappers is inconceivable, but apparently it is happening in America. One "star," according to reports, has surrounded his estate with a high wall, protected at its only entrance by an armed guard. Another is followed wherever she goes by a bodyguard, and the houses of many others are protected by an elaborate system of alarm signals. Sometimes it is the "stars" themselves which are threatened, but more often it is their children. These must be watched carefully by night and day, and in some cases they have been sent out of the country altogether for safety.

This deplorable state of affairs, as was pointed out some weeks ago, is partly Hollywood's own fault. For years she has been "telling the world" how rich her inhabitants were, and now the kidnappers are eager to find out for themselves. Realising that their publicity has had unwelcome results, the studios now are beginning to assure everyone that Hollywood is by no means paved with gold, apparently in the hope that the kidnappers will take them at their word again and will move to less barren fields.

We hear this week, for instance, that the "stars," while not, perhaps, in danger of bankruptcy, are making economies. Mary Astor "hates to spend money for air mail postage, and won't do so unless it is absolutely necessary," while Joe Brown is saving his old razor blades and Richard Barthelmess his old hats. Ann Dvorak saves wrapping paper and Glenda Farrell saves buttons, but neither of them can compete with Ruth Donnelly, who keeps the strings from Christmas parcels and uses them again during the following year. If this tale of woe does not have the desired results, what will?

DUBLIN PROGRAMMES.

"Storm at Daybreak," at the Savoy, is another film about the War, but this time from a different angle. The Austro-Hungarian situation is presented in quite an interesting way and there is some good acting by Walter Huston and Kay Francis. The Silly Symphony, "Father Noah's Ark," is being retained this week.

A new actress, Margaret Sullavan, appears in the Metropole's film, "Only Yesterday." She is distinctly good, and, although the picture itself is commonplace, it is worth a visit on her account. John Boles is also in the cast.

The Capitol is showing "Kidnapped," and the plot concerns a film star whose baby is stolen by gangsters. The cast includes a fine actress, Dorothea Wieck, and also Baby Leroy. Charles Ruggles, Alison Skipworth, Mary Boland and W. C. Fields appear in the supporting comedy, "Six of a Kind," which is quite amusing.

The Grafton's film, "Channel Crossing," deals with the ways of erring financiers, and is quite well acted and produced. The actors include Matheson Lang, Constance Cummings and Edmund Gwenn.

"Cross Country Cruise" is being shown at the Corinthian. The story deals with the adventures of a number of travellers on a 'bus, and the principal actors are Lew Ayres and June Knight. Ken Maynard also appears in "King of the Arena."

At the Grand Central, "Strike it Rich" is a musical comedy film, with George Gee and Gina Malo in the chief parts. "Pirate Treasure" is the supporting picture.

"Afraid to Talk" is being shown at the Sackville for the first three days of the week, with a company which includes Eric Linden and Sidney Fox. From Thursday onwards there is "The Kiss Before the Mirror," an unusual picture which is worth seeing. Nancy Carroll is in the principal part.

Edmund Gwenn, Fay Compton and Jessie Matthews appear in the "Waltzes from Vienna," a musical film which is being shown at the Pavilion, Dun Laoghaire. From Thursday onwards the principal film is "The King's Vacation," with George Arliss as the star. A new Silly Symphony in colour, "China Plate," is also being shown all the week.

SOME good vocal items will be heard to-night from the Dublin Studio. Dorothy Griffith, who is a persistent prize-winner in the Feis Ceoil competitions, will sing two groups of songs. The first group will be sung in English and the second in German (8.15 p.m. and 8.35 p.m.). Joan Burke, the well-known contralto, sings after the play presented by Elizabeth Young and Company. She will be heard in a very attractive selection. At 7.30 p.m. "The Faironians" will give a programme of some of the most delightful songs chosen from popular light operas. They will be accompanied by the Station Orchestra.

A concert in Welsh has been arranged with a long list of items, which, from the brief English translations accompanying them look attractive. It is an hour definitely for Welsh listeners, so far as actual words go, but the music, which is the only universal language, will probably be enjoyed by a great many more. Dilys Wynne Jones (contralto) is the soloist (West Regional 18.45).

The song of the nightingale, it is hoped, will be heard any night this week during the late dance music period. Microphones have been placed in the Berkshire hills, a likely spot in which to find the best songsters.

The word song never seems quite to describe the nightingale's lustrous notes. Listeners who hear it for the first time may be a little disappointed if they expect him to burst into melody. He is the "Clara Butt" of British songsters, and one realises that his golden notes are in perfect harmony with a dusky night in a leafy wood, as the world rests. The bird whose song is clear and tuneful, who trills up and down the scale for pure joy, belongs to the sunlight, so perfectly has nature composed her music.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

and you'll jump out of bed feeling you could push a bus over

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't start dosing yourself with medicines that just bring on a mere bowel movement, and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels, and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason why you feel rotten is your liver. It should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel rotten. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those famous, sure-acting CARTERS BRAND LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't let them give you just any liver pills. Stand out for Carters Pills, the famous sure-health kind. Look for the name Carters on the package. At all Chemists 1/3 and 3/-.

ARABIAN WAR TO START AGAIN?

CAIRO REPORT OF PEACE TERMS CRUX.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

CAIRO, Sunday.

The Imam of the Yemen, under pressure of public opinion, has definitely decided not to agree to the peace terms laid down by King Ibn Saud, Al Gehad states, quoting a well-informed source.

He is now, it is said, formulating his own peace conditions, which include the evacuation of Hodeida, Tehama and all the other positions occupied by the Saudi army.

Meanwhile, according to news received from Saudi circles, King Ibn Saud has given the Imam of the Yemen until to-morrow to make up his mind as to whether he wants war or peace.

Large quantities of arms and ammunition have been landed at Jeddah and Hodeida, and rifles are pouring into Mecca from the tribesmen. Two senior Turkish officers are reported to have arrived at Sana.

Reports generally confirm that Ahmed Seif ul Islam, the Yemen Crown Prince, has threatened to dethrone his father if he signs an "ignominious peace." Emir Feisal and Emir Saud have reported to their father, King Ibn Saud, that everything is now in readiness for the resumption of the offensive against the Yemen, and a report from Jeddah states that the Emir Feisal has ordered his troops to advance to Sana.

LONE WOMAN AND DOG DIE TOGETHER.

SUFFOCATED BY FUMES OF TURF AND WOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

TUAM, Saturday.

A woman and her only companion, a dog, were found dead in a cottage at Castlegar, Mountbellew, Co. Galway, by a man whose attention was attracted by the continued lowing of a hungry cow in an out-shed.

They had been suffocated by fumes from a pile of sticks and turf which were stored outside the house and which caught fire accidentally. Both had been dead for some days when their bodies were found.

The woman was Mrs. Bridget Duffy (57), who, since the death of her brother two months ago, had lived alone in a cottage with boarded windows.

A neighbour named Kelly, who heard the cow lowing, smashed his way through a window, and discovered Mrs. Duffy lying dead and in her night attire inside the door. She had apparently made some attempt to escape, but was overcome by the fumes. The dog was chained to the axle of an old cart wheel beside her.

FARMERS MEET AT THURLES.

BISHOPS UNABLE TO SEND REPRESENTATIVES.

A convention of farmers was held yesterday in Thurles, to which the Most Rev. Dr. Harty, Archbishop of Cashel, the Most Rev. Dr. Kinane, Bishop of Waterford, and the Most Rev. Dr. Fogarty, Bishop of Killaloe, were invited to attend or send representatives.

Each replied to Mr. Martin Farrel, stating that, though he sympathised with the farmers' condition, he could not see his way to send a representative to the convention.

Mr. Belton wrote to the Chairman stating he had been informed by General O'Duffy that he (Mr. Belton) had been nominated to the National Executive of Fine Gael, and, further, that he was to be promoted to the front Opposition bench to take charge of agriculture for Fine Gael.

Following a long discussion on economic conditions, a resolution was passed to the effect that, "owing to the serious financial loss we are daily suffering through the loss of our markets, and what is known as the economic war, we are unable to continue to discharge our ordinary liabilities, and we call on the Government to relieve our unfortunate position, to enable us to discharge our obligations, by paying us at least the amount of the tariffs imposed on cattle and produce going into England."

A memorial was presented by Mr. Stokes, Fethard, to be sent to the Cardinal, Archbishops and Bishops of Ireland, informing them of the plight of the agricultural community. It was also arranged that every parish priest and curate and the Protestant Bishops should also be sent a copy.

SEIZED WATERFORD CATTLE.

FIVE REMAINING ANIMALS SOLD.

Five cattle remaining out of a batch of twelve taken from the lands of Mr. T. W. Little at Ballinavilla, Co. Waterford, were sold on Saturday at The Pound, Waterford, the purchaser giving his name as "O'Neill."

Seven of the animals had previously been redeemed by their owners who paid arrears of rates due, together with pound fees.

A large force of police and detectives, in charge of Chief Superintendent Murphy, Superintendent Fahy, and Inspectors Hart and Prior were present.

The animals fetched £1 5s. each, "Mr. O'Neill" also paying the pound fees, which amounted to £9 11s. 3d. Immediately after the sale the purchaser entered a waiting motor car with two detectives and drove away, but after a few minutes returned with a lorry, which backed on to the pound, where the cattle were driven into it.

The lorry then drove away, preceded and followed by motor cars, in which were detectives. It is stated that the cattle were bound for a cross-border destination.

IRISH WEDDINGS.

MR. H. C. H. FITZHERBERT AND MISS S. M. MURPHY.

Bright sunshine favoured the wedding of Mr. Henry Charles Hugh FitzHerbert, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Eden FitzHerbert, Burton Hall, Stillorgan, Co. Dublin, and Miss Sheelah Mary Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. X. Murphy, Ashurst, Blackrock, Co. Dublin, which took place on Saturday last in the Church of St. Mary of the Angels, Holyhead, Wales. The church had been especially decorated for the occasion with arum lilies and lilies of the valley, interspersed with pink gladioli.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Wilkinson, parish priest, Holyhead.

The bride was escorted up the aisle and given away by her father. She wore a graceful gown of ivory lace of a large leaf-patterned design, mounted over ivory satin. The gown was fashioned on tight-fitting lines, moulded to the figure, with a high neck-line in front and a short fish-tailored train, which was cut in one with the back panel of the dress. From a head-dress of tiny pearl sprays a veil of ivory tulle was arranged. The bride wore as ornaments a diamond bar brooch, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a sheaf of Harrisi lilies.

Two bridesmaids were in attendance—Miss Thais Keogh and Miss Nancy Moore. They were each attired in pretty frocks of two-coloured pink georgette. The dresses fell to their ankles, and were trimmed on the skirt with frills of the deeper shade of pink. Little cape attachments to the bodices were edged with the deeper pink shade, and shaded leaves to match their frocks were worn round their heads, while the bouquets were composed of pink gerbera. The bridegroom's gifts were pearl brooches.

Mr. Sydney FitzHerbert, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, and the groomsmen in the church were Mr. Donald Pringle, Mr. Gerard Sweetman, and Mr. Paddy McCann.

After the ceremony a luncheon was given at the Cliff Hotel, Trearddwr Bay, Wales, to a company of about 100, who had been brought over from Ireland as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. X. Murphy for the week's-end. The festivities in connection with the wedding included a private dance in the hotel and golf competitions for members of the party on the famous Trearddwr Bay Links.

THE RECEPTION.

Mrs. J. X. Murphy, who received the company at the reception, was wearing a handsome gown of black and white-patterned crêpe, with sable furs, and a smart black hat, trimmed with a touch of white. The bridegroom's mother wore a charming gown of light navy and white leaf-patterned silk marocain, with a picture hat of blue chenille straw and white fox furs. Mrs Sweetman, an aunt of the bride, was attired in navy georgette, with a becoming navy and white hat. Mrs. Gubbins, the bride's aunt, was wearing a striking toilette of navy blue taffeta, trimmed with white georgette frills, and a hat to tone; while another of the bride's aunts, Mrs. Garsai, also chose an ensemble of navy blue, with a small upturned hat of navy straw. Mrs. R. Martin wore a spray of pink malmaisons pinned in her brown romaine coat, which was worn over a brown and white spotted frock, with a hat in the same shade of brown.

LADY PATRICIA MARY STOPFORD.

The wedding took place on Saturday, at St. Mary's Church, Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire, of Lady Patricia Mary Stopford, eldest daughter of the Earl and Countess of Courtown, of Courtown House, Gorey, and the Old House, Aylesbury, and Mr. Maurice John Hayward, only son of Sir Maurice Hayward, K.C.S.I., and Lady Hayward, of the Manor House, Swanbourn.

The church was decorated with roses and lilies.

Archbishop Carter, formerly of Cape Town, officiated with the Vicar of St. Mary's (Canon F. J. Howard) and the Rev. S. Dickens, of Walton, Aylesbury.

The bride, who was escorted and given away by her father, wore a graceful gown of pearl pink satin, the long full skirt extending to form a train. Softly pouched sleeves were set in the simple bodice, which had a draped neckline. A veil of antique lace, lent by the bride's aunt, Lady Eileen Duberly, was held by a tiara of pearls, and fell down to cover the train. She carried a bouquet of golden roses.

Two child bridesmaids—Miss Diana Brooke (cousin of the bride) and Miss Janet Peat (a niece of the bridegroom)—were dainty figures in long frocks of peach-tinted net, with short puffed sleeves and high-waisted bodices. Ruchings of the net were piped with peach satin to match the sashes at their waists, and they wore caps of the finest net, edged with plaited ostrich feathers to tone, and held posies of sweet peas and roses.

Four older bridesmaids were the Ladies Rosemary, Moyra, and Cecilia Stopford, and Lady Marjorie Stopford. Their gowns were also of peach net, gracefully made with long, full skirts. There were upstanding frills at the shoulders, of the dress material, piped with matching satin in keeping with the wide sashes at their waists. Their caps of fine net were also edged with plaited ostrich feathers, and they carried sweet peas and golden roses to tone with their toilettes.

Mr. Henry Hayward acted as best man.

THE MIDLAND FEIS.

PRESIDENT ON "JAZZ ERA."

From Our Correspondent.

MULLINGAR, Sunday.

"There will soon be an end to the Jazz era in Ireland," declared the Rev. E. Crinion, President of the Midland Feis, at the opening of that festival at Mullingar yesterday. "For this," he added, "thanks are due to the work for Irish dancing at this and other feiseanna." They had at the feis that day the same high standard in the Irish language, history and dancing as in recent years, and if there was some failing off in the music entries, he understood that the same was the case in other parts of Ireland, and the cause could be traced to cheap music on the ether and the gramaphone.

Referring to the work done in schools for the Irish language, as shown in examination results, the speaker said that until the children leaving school learned to carry the language from the classroom into the business house and sports field it was in danger of being lost.

Dr. MacPhinn, D.D., Galway, said that, compared with the rest of the country, very little had been done for industrial development and the Irish language. Irish was even still being forced out of the Gaeltacht schools because English was made essential for making a livelihood. That system should be reversed, and compulsory English abolished in public examinations.

The musical and dramatic competitions were held in the county hall, while the language, history and dancing, as well as the feis cups football and hurling finals, were held in Cusack Park, where the formal opening took place.

A largely attended prize-winners' concert in the evening closed the feis.

FIGHT FOR REPUBLIC.

SENATOR CONNOLLY AT DUNGARVAN.

From Our Correspondent.

DUNGARVAN, Sunday.

At a meeting here to-day, Senator Connolly said that no matter what happened, or at what cost, the Irish people would keep on moving to the attainment of an Irish Republic. The present combined opposition, he said, were the one force who were carrying on the work of Britain. The fight could be fought, he continued, on several issues, but the one great issue was complete independence.

Mr. P. J. Little, T.D., referred to the Waterford Council inquiry, and said that he hoped it would be suppressed and replaced by a manager who would see that the rates were paid.

WATERFORD MEETING.

At a meeting at Waterford last night, Senator Connolly claimed that no Government in the world was working harder or going more quickly towards the ultimate goal and at the same time preserving the national integrity than the present Government. The only way to achieve the objective of a thirty-two county republic was by intensive development of the country in every phase of national life. When they did that people in the six counties would realise the true position, because Britain could not carry them along indefinitely. Knowing the six counties as he did, he said it was physically impossible to do anything by way of physical force, because while British forces occupied that territory physical force was absurdity.

FAILURE TO PROVIDE WORK.

DR. O'HIGGINS CRITICISES ASSISTANCE BILL.

From Our Correspondent.

MARYBOROUGH, Saturday.

Dr. T. F. O'Higgins, T.D., addressing a meeting at Shanahoe, Leix, said that the policy which the present Government called super-national was a miserable policy of retreating without a struggle. Twelve years ago they had a grand chance of a bright future, unhampered by any debt or liability—a State that ranked higher than any other in a world shackled by the debt of the Great War. That chance was interfered with, the growth of the State was stunted, not by any foreign foe, but by wild men and wild women within, and a section of the Irish people, led by a group of professional politicians, went out with bullet, bomb and petrol can to destroy that Free State.

Referring to more recent happenings, Dr O'Higgins said that after Mr. de Valera came into power he presided at the Council of the League of Nations at Geneva by virtue of his position as President of the Irish Free State, but to save his face with the extreme left wing of his party from not establishing a republic he started a squabble with Great Britain, which built up a wall between the Irish producer and the English market. That so-called economic war was bleeding the people white They had back lane factories in Dublin where little girls were employed, but able-bodied men were walking about unemployed and hungry.

When the Government were appealing for the votes of the workers they produced a plan to put 84,000 men into work. That had been replaced by a plan to pay men out of work. The confession of Government's failure lay in their Unemployed Assistance Bill, for, instead of work, they would give an able-bodied man 6s. a week.

MESSRS. ARNOTT'S OUTING.

The staff of Messrs. Arnott and Co., Ltd., held a very successful outing to Kilmacurra Park, County Wicklow, on Saturday. The excursion was a great success, and a special feature of the afternoon were the sports, for which prizes were presented by Mr. Nesbitt, chairman of the company; Mr. W. Nesbitt, managing director; Mrs. Nesbitt, and Mrs. A. Nesbitt. The prizes were presented to the winners by Mrs. W. Nesbitt. The evening concluded with supper, followed by a dance.

HIDES AND LEATHER.

(SPECIAL REPORT.)

There was a fair demand for domestic hides and prices generally remained steady. English ox and heifer, first clear 80lb.-89lb. and 90lb. and up, sold at 5¼d. to 5½d., 70lb.-79lb. 5¼d. to 5½d., 60lb.-69lb. 4¾d. to 4¾d., 50lb.-59lb. 4½d. to 5d., and 49lb. and under at 4½d. to 4¾d.; first clear cows made 4¾d. to 4¾d., and first clear bulls 2¾d. to 3d. per lb. Calfskins were about steady, with 8lb and under sold at 4½d. to 5d. per lb. In the foreign section, prices showed little variation from last week's level, and B.A. Americanos stood at 5¼d., unbathed Adisabebas at 5¼d. to 5¾d. and Mombasas at 4¾d. to 5d. per lb. The general demand for leather was disappointing, there being only a limited inquiry for sole bends for manufacturing purposes, whilst the continued dry weather has led to further restricted buying of repairing bends. Prices were about steady, though here and there slight concessions were made on good-sized orders, but the general policy of buyers showed no change and purchases were mainly confined to the covering of immediate needs. The demand for upper leathers was a trifle more active, with blue and white leathers attracting good attention, whilst tan shades of glace were in better request.

THE PRESENTATION COLLEGE, BRAY.

ANNUAL DINNER IN DUBLIN.

The members of the Presentation College (Bray) Union held their first annual dinner in the Dolphin Hotel, Dublin, last Saturday night, Dr. W. T. Bermingham, President of the Union, presiding over a large attendance.

The President said that the Union had been formed to carry on in later years the same esprit de corps for which Presentation students were noted. Another of its objects was to promote Catholic action. The object of the College was not to "cram" students, but to fit them mentally and physically to take their places in the world. Athletics were taken up in earnest in 1924, and since then they had annexed the Junior Cup and, later, the Senior Cup. They had also produced several fine individual players. The present superior was responsible for the formation of the Union, and the past pupils were thankful for his happy thought.

Proposing the toast of "The College," Mr. N. Reid said that the College existed pre-eminently to raise up decent fellows. The fact that so many past pupils had shone as they had in the fields of intellectual endeavour, as well as in sport, was a great feather in the cap of Presentation College, especially in view of the fact that it was one of the smallest colleges in the neighbourhood of Dublin.

Proposing the toast of "The Union," the Rev. Brother Austin said that, comparatively speaking, Presentation College, Bray, was still in its infancy, but what a strong infant it was—a modern Hercules. Ever since its foundation it had given the greatest attention to the physical culture side of the students' education, and they had every reason to congratulate themselves on the result. Their newly established Union would, please God, do great things for the College, for Ireland and for God. (Applause.)

One man was killed and another injured in the Busty seam of the Victory Pit, Consett, Co. Durham, last night. John Wilfred Proud (37), a married man with two children, of The Glen, Iveston, Consett, and his mate, Frederick John Waites, aged 29, of Altrincham street, Black hill, were at work as stone men when a prop became dislodged. Waites received only a few abrasions to the face, but Proud was pinned down by the chest, and died almost immediately.

GAELIC GAMES.

U.C.D. RECOVER THE HURLING TITLE.

SPLENDID DISPLAY IN DUBLIN FINAL.

(By PAT'O.)

U.C.D. .... 4-5 YOUNG IRELANDS 2-4

Another five-figure crowd watched the Dublin senior hurling final at Croke Park yesterday, in bright, calm weather, on a perfect pitch. The game, in every way, came up to expectations. Not alone was the pace fast throughout, but the hurling was singularly clean and of high quality. U.C.D. had improved in every match played through the season, but few were prepared for their sustained speed and spirit.

Young Irelands seemed to me not to have fully recovered from their severe test against Army a week ago, and they lacked the fire and dash they displayed in the semi-final. They rallied well in the last quarter, but Hogan, Loughnane, McSullivan, Lynch, and Flanagan held them out. Every man of the Terenure team played splendidly, and their quick hitting on the ground and overhead was a revelation, whilst their combined movements around goal brought many scores.

Mr. Sean T. O'Kelly, Minister for Local Government, was present, and the New Ireland Assurance Cup was presented to Mr. J. Hogan, the U.C.D. captain, by Mr. M. W. O'Reilly, president of the company.

St. Josephs qualified for the football final after a close struggle with St. Lawrences.

AN EVEN FIRST HALF.

Breaking quickly, Young Ireland attacked, and Byrne cut in a point from touch inside a minute, but when T. McCarthy placed a free to U.C.D. in the goalmouth, Warner turned it into the net for the students' lead. U.C.D. ranged down-field at a fast pace, and McCarthy passed quickly to Feeney, whose high point was a fine individual effort. The next score was a point by Hough for Young Irelands, but this was quickly followed by one for U.C.D. from Reynolds. Then Byrne drove a powerful groundball, which Maher flecked to the net, setting the teams level after twelve minutes.

Close to half-time McCarthy lobbed a ball to the goalmouth, and Loughnane doubled to the net, giving College the lead. Feency met the return, and Boland burst through to part to Ryan, who goaled again. A grand point by Byrne from seventy yards out finished the half, the score then reading:—U.C.D., 3-2; Young Irelands, 1-3.

E. Byrne raised Young Ireland's hopes with a grand drive from far out. Boland doubled Flanagan's long puck out, and in a flash Canning, who had come on for Reynolds, crashed a perfect ball to the net, giving U.C.D. a sound lead. When McCarthy added a point from a free the Students were definitely in the ascendant, but though three goals down, Young Irelands were not dismayed. They stormed U.C.D.'s posts, and a curling shot from Byrne beat Flanagan. This score added great life to the finish, but Warner's point was the only other score.

ST. JOSEPHS FOR FINAL.

ST. JOSEPHS .... 1-6 HOWTH 1-3

Following speedy hurling, the football looked dull for a time, but the game livened by alternate scoring. King and O'Rourke had points at either end, and Kane and Duffy brought the register to two points each. The teams were again level after twenty minutes, and when O'Neill had sent Howth ahead, Duffy had a third for St. Josephs.

On the resumption, Macken won the lead with a good point, and Byrne, Macken and King joined in a pretty bout of passing by St. Josephs. Duffy dropped a ball in the goal area, and Wellington raced in to turn it into the net. St. Lawrences fought back with spirit, and though Nolan placed King for a St. Joseph's minor, O'Neill's speed paved the way for a grand Howth goal by O'Rourke. St. Josephs played with the better understanding near the end, and Wellington swung a timely centre across, which was well handled by Newman, whose final shot was just above the cross-bar.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE REPLAY.

Mr. R. O'Keeffe presided at Croke House on Saturday afternoon, when the Football League final (replay), between Dublin and Mayo was fixed for Croke Park on June 24th, with Mr. Shevlin, Roscommon, referee.

The arrangements for the jubilee celebrations in Dublin in September were approved.

Mr. O'Keeffe expressed the thanks of the Association to those who released the Cavan players for the American tour. Mr. Sean Gibbons, T.D., will accompany the Kilkenny hurlers, who leave for U.S.A. on Saturday next.

Italy Faces Facts.

Signor Mussolini is the supreme realist among European statesmen, and on that account the nations listen when he speaks. Last Saturday he informed the Chamber of Deputies that Italy's financial condition was very bad. She is confronted with a deficit of 4,000,000,000 lire, or £55,000,000, in her Budget for the current financial year, and with an estimated deficit of 2,900,000,000 lire, or £50,000,000, in the trade balance. In these circumstances, said Signor Mussolini the people of Italy must rally to the rescue. Little more money can be expected either from economies or from taxation; and the only available means of recovery is to reduce the general level of salaries, thereby bringing Italy's internal cost of production down to the level of world prices. Other nations, including England, France, Germany and the United States, have been compelled to cut salaries, and Italy, in spite of her semi-planned economy, cannot hope to escape without a similar sacrifice. The burden of Signor Mussolini's speech, therefore, is: "Italy is growing poorer, and the people must be prepared to suffer on her behalf." At the same time, he announces a positive increase in her burdens—an extraordinary vote of 2,000,000,000 lire, or £33,000,000, on sea and air armaments, to be spread over the next six years. This vote added to the normal appropriations for the fighting services, will raise Italy's expenditure on arms to a very high sum—particularly for a country which, on the Duce's own admission, is becoming rapidly poorer—and shows exactly what Signor Mussolini, the realist, thinks of the possibility of world peace.

The Bureau of the Disarmament Conference meets to-day, and the General Commission will meet to-morrow. A last-minute effort may be made to save the Conference from collapse—there is even the possibility that a new Conference will evolve out of its ruins—but the chances are small. According to the general whisper, Tuesday's meeting will be the last gasp of an assembly which has twiddled with the fringes of the disarmament problem for more than two years, and has done little or nothing except to increase unpleasantness between the nations. It created hopes in Germany, and dashed those hopes, with the result that Germany acquired an additional grievance. It convinced the Far East that Europe's bond is not to be trusted. If any lesson has emerged from the Disarmament Conference, it is not that the nations want peace, but that they want markets, and that, if markets can only be obtained at the cost of war, war it must be. The most devastating commentary on the reality of the Disarmament Conference appears in the fact that, while the statesmen have been prating at Geneva about the need of peace and the need of disarmament, the armament firms of all nations have been coining money hand over fist. There is a suggestion, indeed, that the increased prosperity which most nations have enjoyed during the past year is due almost entirely to the new activity of the manufacturers of armaments. If so, what chance has Geneva of success? She could not prevent the Powers from supplying arms to Japan and China; and, for all her despairing efforts, she is not likely to have any better luck in the case of Bolivia and Paraguay. How, then, can she expect that the nations of Europe will do more than pay lip-service to a Disarmament Conference?

Indeed, Signor Mussolini has lamentably sound reason for his decision to sacrifice the Italian people's material comfort in favour of an increased expenditure on the fighting services. Looking about the world, he sees Germany, forbidden by the peace treaties to enlarge her regular Army and Navy beyond a certain limit, and to possess an air force at all, remedying that lack by the development of a tremendously powerful militia. He observes that Great Britain, the United States, France and Japan all have voted new expenditure on their armaments. He is aware that, when the naval treaties expire next year, they will not be renewed. He has studied the conditions prevailing in the Far East, and realises that an outburst there must be followed by war in Europe, which would be as likely as not to involve the United States. He watches the ring of steel tightening around Germany, and appreciates the increasing tension of the German temper. With that clearness of vision for which he is famous, he cannot fail to have anticipated the impending rapprochement between Russia and the League—a rapprochement which is manifestly dictated by Russia's consciousness of her position between the twin fires of resurgent Germany and ambitious Japan. It is, indeed, in this last circumstance that Europe's only hope of a lasting peace lies. If Russia should join the League, its prestige and power would be enhanced to an enormous extent. It is well-nigh useless to-day, because only two Great Powers—Britain and France—take any active part in its councils; but the accession of Soviet Russia would render Geneva a vital influence. Even so, Signor Mussolini is determined to take no chances, and we cannot but recognise, while we deplore, the causes of his decision.

Problems of Population.

Great Britain's population is about to decline, according to a report issued by the Political and Economic Planning Association, which is dealing with various aspects of the country's life. It may seem surprising that anyone can speak with certainty on such a complex matter, but recent years have shown that the increase or decline of population can be foretold with a very near approach to accuracy. The present report not only states that a decrease will take place, but tells how great it will be. According to its calculations, the peak point now has been reached. The numbers grew with great speed during the nineteenth century, and, indeed, have maintained their growth almost to the present day. In 1890 the population was thirty-three millions; in 1931 it was nearly forty-five millions. Apparently, the limit has been reached. 1941, it is stated, will see no addition to the present figure, by 1951 it will have gone down by over two millions, and in 1976 Great Britain will be back where she was at the beginning of the century. Any change in the population figures, whether upwards or downwards, is very important; for it affects the whole trend of life in a country. Already some of the implications have been pointed out. Declining numbers mean an increased percentage of old people, and it is feared that by 1960 there will be a "top-heaviness" of population in Great Britain, as the young will be outnumbered by the old. In twenty years' time the number of children in the country may be no more than half the figure of 1901—twelve millions—and this would affect the system of education. Housing, too, would be seriously influenced by a decline, as would many other matters. These problems, however, can be surmounted. Certainly, the prospect for Great Britain would be alarming should her numbers continue to drop below the thirty million level, but, unless this fall occurs, her decreased population will be a blessing rather than a curse. At the present time England has more people than she can hold with comfort, and the post-war years have shown how difficult it is to provide work and a home for every one of them. Moreover, conditions to-day are not such as would make a further increase welcome. Fifty years ago Great Britain's export of coal could ensure her food imports, but coal no longer holds a key position in the world, and the task of feeding a huge population has become more difficult. In the Free State there are problems of population, too, but they are directly opposite to those of Great Britain. Owing to the stoppage of emigration, the decline in numbers has turned to an increase, and the task of dealing with the situation will not be easy.

Early Birds.

Bird-lovers in this country will be interested to hear of an experiment that was made in the small hours of Sunday morning by a party of about a hundred members of the British Empire Naturalists' Association who foregathered in a Surrey village. Their vigil had a double purpose. They were anxious to listen to the song of the English nightingale, which seems to have a decided preference for Surrey, and also to make a note of the order in which birds in general greet the dawn. The party, which included visitors from Canada, New Zealand and South Africa, had an entertaining and instructive experience. The local nightingales evidently were anxious to make a good impresison on the guests; for they were in great voice, and gave a brilliant performance. Several of our preconceived ideas about early birds, however, were upset by the results of the visitors' observations. Apart from the premature efforts of a few roosters, nothing happened until twenty-one minutes past three, when the first pæan of praise issued from the throat of a common hedge-sparrow. He held the field for a period of seven minutes, during which, presumably, the worm population of Abinger Hammer Common was reduced, and then, at 3.28, the hedge-sparrow was joined by the skylark. There was another interval of no less than twenty-four minutes before the arrival of the red-leg, who was followed in rapid succession by the blackbird, the thrush, the pheasant and the robin. It was 4.14 o'clock before the rook joined the party, while the jackdaw was nearly fifteen minutes later. Judging by their joint performances in the Dublin neighbourhood, however, we may assume that they took control of the orchestra from that moment onwards, and that the great tit and the chaffinch, who arrived afterwards, had not much chance to make themselves heard. A comparison between Surrey and, say, Dublin in respect of early birds would be interesting. Possibly, some Irish ornithologist would organise a party before the summer ends.

Tourist Restrictions.

An international tourist conference, attended by representatives of twenty nations, will be held shortly in Paris. Its laudable purpose is to find means to abolish the many unnecessary regulations which continue to hamper the tourist traffic in all parts of the world. Although most countries by this time have realised that tourists are a highly profitable import, and encourage their arrival by all the devices of "publicity," they still put hundreds of obstacles in the way of the traffic. The unhappy visitor is expected to know all the rules and regulations of the country that he visits for the first time; as an official of the conference puts it, he "spends a good part of his holiday in being harried from pillar to post with threats of fines or imprisonment for failing to observe ridiculous red-tape rules." Let us hope that the conference will do something to decrease this nuisance. We do not know if the Free State proposes to be represented; but, if not, she certainly ought to be. A delegate, armed with powers to make, as well as to demand, concessions for tourists, would do the national visiting list more good than many posters. There is little doubt that hundreds of potential visitors to the Saorstát are scared away by the formidable difficulties which await them before and when they land upon her shores. To bring one's car across the border or the Irish Sea requires trouble enough if one is a member of a motoring association, but the task is appalling for the wretched tourist who has not that advantage. If they are without cars, Ireland's visitors still must prove their innocence against one of the world's most complicated and fearsome lists of dutiable articles. Even their books can be taken from them if a Customs official disapproves of the contents. When the Saorstát makes up her mind to abolish or to minimise these nuisances, her hotels will reap the benefit at once.

The mystery of the £5,000 safe robbery at Stepney (London) Borough Council offices is still unsolved. The money, which was intended for the wages of Council employés, was in the safe on Thursday night, and the following morning when the cashier went to the safe it was missing.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

On Saturday the Queen's birthday was celebrated at Buckingham Palace, where congratulatory telegrams and messages reached Her Majesty from all parts of the Empire. At the Royal Family luncheon party were the Prince of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York, the Princess Royal and the Earl of Harewood, the Duke of Gloucester, Prince George, Princess Victoria, Princess Beatrice, Princess Helena Victoria, Princess Marie Louise, Princess Alice and the Earl of Athlone, and the Marquess and Marchioness of Cambridge.

Immediately on the arrival of the Court at Buckingham Palace last week the Queen, with Lady Victoria Forester, drove to 15 Portman square, where the exhibition of English Women's Clothing in the Nineteenth Century is now being held. After spending an hour there Her Majesty then went on to the Walker Galleries to see Countess Ahlefeldt's exhibition of portraits and sketches, and later visited Lady Southampton's exhibition of water-colours and Mrs. R. H. Wright's flower paintings.

On Wednesday the King will receive at Buckingham Palace a special mission from Nepal bearing the newly-created Order of "Ojasci Rajawaja" to His Majesty, who will be the first recipient of the decoration. Smallwood on Saturday at Elsenham Church, Essex, where the bridegroom's uncle, Rector of Hambledon, officiated, assisted by the Vicars of Elsenham and Stansted. Miss Diana Chamberlain was the only bridesmaid, and Mr. F. W. Lowe was best man. The church was decorated with flowers, and crowds of children strewed the pathway with rose leaves as the newly-married couple left the church.

Meath, second son of Lieutenant-Colonel and the late Mrs. Beare, Greystones, and Sheila Sophie, second daughter of the late Charles C. CONTRACT BRIDGE.

THE CROCKFORD MATCH.

(BY B. L. WILLIAMS.)

WHEN we started our match against Colonel Beasley's team we were in the same position as most ticket-holders in the sweep prior to the draw, with no very great expectations, but rich in hope. Now that it is all over, it is interesting to study the score sheet and wonder if we had any right to cherish our hopes.

Analysis of the score sheet shows that our greatest loss was on hands which the English team played in a game contract, whereas the Irish did not bid game. Ireland lost 3,960 points on the 14 hands in which this situation arose. This loss might be caused by underbidding or by our defensive play being bad. Fortunately I can prove from the score sheet that the defence was not at fault. On eight of these hands the contract was in the same suit in each room, on two of these eight England obviously overbid and went down. of the remaining six Ireland got the same number of tricks as England on five, and two more tricks on one. On the balance of the fourteen Ireland played in a profitless minor suit contract, while England ran to No Trumps in preference, scoring game in every case.

The best example of England's opportunism in the No Trump market was provided by Mrs. Evers. I had opened the bidding third caller with 1 Spade, Mrs. Renshaw called 3 Clubs, my partner 3 Spades and Mrs. Evers, holding the Kings of Spades and Diamonds and the Queens of Hearts and Clubs, called 3 No Trumps, which I doubled. The contract was a cakewalk, as Mrs. Renshaw held seven Clubs to four honours and Ace of Hearts.

There is indirect evidence that our play of the dummy could be improved upon, as in thirty-one hands that were played at the same make in each room we lost 1,370 points. Our defence having been sound on the hand I have mentioned previously, I see no reason to assume that it should be weak on these.

On seven hands there was a slam bid in one or both rooms, and on these seven we showed a profit of 1,850 points. Actually our gain on slam hands might easily have been more than double that figure, as we missed two slams very badly in bidding and flung one away in the play. From my experience of my team's play I can say that these three mistakes were exceptional.

On the last forty hands Mrs. Evers and Colonel Beasley were partners and played a one club convention. A bid of one club showed a 3½ honour trick hand. Unless the partner held two quick tricks he replied one diamond. A jump bid from the original bidder was then forcing. This convention was used, I am sure, on at least ten of the forty hands, and proved very effective. I am not satisfied that we could not have curbed its efficacy by shoving in a few intervening bids; but we neglected to consider what tactics to adopt against it, and, therefore, it probably lost us points.

I believe that we have all learned a lot from this match, and that our chances of winning a return if, or when, Colonel Beasley brings a team over to Ireland are considerably better than the bare result of the last match would lead anyone to suppose.

MR. J. H. THOMAS AND DISARMAMENT.

"PEACE THE ONLY THING WE CARE ABOUT."

Mr. J. H. Thomas, speaking at an Empire Day meeting in Derby market place yesterday, said:—

"Cannot we go back to 1918 and say with certainty and truth that we are the only nation that has set a lesson to the world on its disarmament.

"It is a common truth to say that, in our anxiety to give a lesson to the world on peace, and to work for peace, we have disarmed to an almost dangerous limit, though there are all the elements in some parts of the world of the same tendencies and dangerous outlook that preceded the war.

"It is equally true to say—and I say it with all confidence—that, so far as this country is concerned, we have entered into no military secret or other alliances since that time.

"This country is always prepared to carry out any obligation she has entered into, but she is equally determined to show to the world that peace is the only thing that we care about, and, despite all the difficulties of the moment, it is towards peace that the Government are going to direct their greatest efforts."

LONDON LETTER.

THE DYING CONFERENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
SUNDAY NIGHT.

Sir John Simon left London this morning by air for Paris and Geneva, where the long-drawn-out Disarmament Conference is expected to pass peacefully away after a troubled existence. The Bureau of the Conference will meet to-morrow, and the General Commission on Tuesday. It is at the meeting of the latter body that any official announcement will be made, and, while there will be an attempt to save faces, it may be taken that all hope of securing agreement on disarmament in any shape or form has been abandoned. An indefinite postponement of the proceedings of the conference is expected, with a strong speech by Mr. Arthur Henderson, who may decide to resign his post as president. Rumour during the week-end suggested, however, that when once the Disarmament Conference is put to sleep, another will begin, with a view to discussing the possibility of a reduction of arms under the terms of the London Naval Treaty.

German Debts.

The news from Berlin during the past week in regard to the German Debts Conference had not been of a reassuring character, but it was not thought that the conference was on the verge of a breakdown. Messages received here last night showed that such a move was averted with almost "sensational" speed. Dr. Schacht, the President of the Reichsbank, was prepared to announce default when the spokesman for the foreign members of the conference solemnly reminded the German members what default would mean to their country, and in such emphatic terms that after a meeting of the Hitler Cabinet it was decided that a breakdown of the conference should be avoided by all possible means. This development is regarded here as a hopeful sign that the situation may be saved—a matter of some importance to Britain, since over forty million pounds sterling, invested by British people, are involved.

Empire Imports to Britain.

The Parliamentary Committee of the Empire Industries' Association, which embraces a very large number of members of the House of Commons, will meet on Wednesday evening to consider the alarming growth of imports of manufactured goods, and the difficulties of the changing situation with regard to Empire produce. A memorandum which will form the basis of discussion states that, "taking the whole of the manufactured group, the quantity of retained imports in the first three months of 1934 was 25 per cent. higher than in the corresponding period of 1933, and calculations show that in the first three months of 1934 they were 20 per cent. higher in quantity than in the first three months of 1923, the year in which they were considered so high that the Conservative Government went to the country for the purpose of obtaining a mandate to adopt a system of protection."

Surveying by Air.

The Ordnance Survey Department recently has approved an aerial survey scheme for some sixteen million acres of Great Britain and Wales, an undertaking expected to take about two years, allowing thirty days in every year for the weather to be sufficiently clear for vertical photography. The scheme, which is now being considered by municipal bodies all over the country, is related to the Town Planning Act, whose terms require local bodies to furnish up to date plans of their areas to the Minister of Health. As these must be supplied in two years, aerial survey, in many cases, is the only method to ensure delivery in time. In some of the districts to be photographed it has been found that the plans of the Ordnance Survey were twenty to forty years behind in their record of road and building developments.

The Eucharistic Congress.

The next World Eucharistic Conference will take place at Melbourne in December, when the celebrations will follow the plan adopted in Dublin. At first there was an indisposition in official circles to permit a procession of the Host through the streets, but that was overcome, and there will be a great procession through the principal thoroughfares. A request by Archbishop Mannix that he should be allowed to stand on the steps of Parliament House while the procession passed before him was not granted—much to the disappointment of the many thousands of people who will take part.

Britain's Vegetable Output.

During the past three years there has been a great increase in the output of vegetables in this country, and the increased value is put at £4,000,000 a year. A further increase is expected during this summer, when over one hundred thousand workers may find employment on the land. Two factors are especially favourable to increased employment this year. The acreages under crop have been increased in many districts, and the fruit and vegetable harvests will require more labour. Over 300,000 acres are believed to have been added to the wheat acreage this year, and this addition will provide more employment in the autumn. For many ears before 1933 the number of workers on the land showed a steady decline, but last year the number rose from 69,000 in 1932 to 714,000, and it is expected that this figure will be considerably exceeded during 1934.

H.M.S. President.

A naval ceremony watched by great crowds of people was conducted in central London yesterday, when Vice-Admiral G. K. Chetwode paid a visit to H.M.S. President on the occasion of the Queen's birthday. The President, moored in the Thames off Blackfriars, is the headquarters of the London division of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, and before the arrival of the Admiral an armed guard of honour was posted on the Embankment. He was piped on board in regular naval style, the ship being dressed for the occasion, and during the inspection the ship's boats were lowered for exercises, which were carried out between Blackfriars and Waterloo Bridges. The R.N.V.R. consists mostly of clerks and city workers, who attend regular practices on board the President, and spend a fortnight every year at sea with the fleet.

The Hinde Collection.

Some of the rarest postage stamps known will be offered when the sale of the famous Arthur Hinde collection is resumed here next month. In the Mauritius section will be an envelope bearing a 1d. orange red and a 2d. blue "Post Office," Mauritius, for which Mr. Hinde paid £11,000. The rarity of these stamps is due to the printing of the words "Post Office" in mistake for "Post Paid." A number of the stamps were issued, and these, when available, fetch good prices; but there is no other envelope bearing the two stamps. The collection includes a brilliant unused copy of the penny orange red, and others of the twopenny deep blue—both of which are considered by collectors of immense value. One unused copy of the penny orange has a catalogued price of £1,250, and a mint block of four of these stamps is described as "excessively rare, catalogued as singles at £5,000." Altogether there are well over 1,000 stamps in the Mauritius section of the sale, including all the rare varieties.

Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, after attending morning service with Miss Ishbel and Mr. Malcolm Macdonald, spent the afternoon in visiting a number of his fishermen friends. Mr. Macdonald will leave Lossiemouth by aeroplane to-day.

SCENES OF RIOT IN DROGHEDA.

RIVAL DEMONSTRATIONS IN THE TOWN.

SKIRMISHING PARTIES OF MEN AND WOMEN.

CIVIC GUARDS CHARGE ANGRY CROWDS.

FROM OUR REPORTER.

DROGHEDA, SUNDAY.

TORN berets and broken flag poles litter the streets to-night, silent testimony that Drogheda has passed through a day of fierce rioting, such as it has not experienced for many years.

Local feeling all the morning was at fever-heat, stimulated by announcements that rival demonstrations—one of which was to be addressed by General O'Duffy and the other by extreme Republican leaders—were to be addressed simultaneously in the town.

Shortly after two o'clock nearly two thousand members of the League of Youth, gathered from all the surrounding counties, marched out to meet the General, forming a long blue line, which extended the length of all the main streets of Drogheda. An Ancient Order of Hibernians brass band from Cavan marched at their head.

Hardly were they out of sight before a Republican procession, almost as long, followed in their path, led by a band of kilted pipers.

After making a tour of the principal streets they gathered around a platform on the south side of the Boyne Bridge, virtually closing the main road along which General O'Duffy and his partisans would normally pass, and hundreds of people gathered, while speeches were being delivered by Mrs. Gonne McBride and other speakers, in expectation of the almost inevitable clash.

The danger was averted by General O'Duffy leading his followers into a detour along the quays. Even so, the long procession had to pass within a few yards of the outskirts of the rival meeting, but they kept their ranks in perfect order, ignoring derisive shouts, as they crossed the bridge to their own platform on the opposite side of the river.

Dr. R. Davitt, T.D., who entered Drogheda by car, wearing a blue shirt, unwittingly drove among the Republican demonstrators, and was forced to stop. Describing the occurrence afterwards at the United Ireland Party meeting, he asserted that, although the I.R.A. leaders tried to control the hostility of the crowd towards him, they would have been unable to do so but for the intervention of the Guards.

On his journey into the town General O'Duffy was greeted by two black flags, hanging from telegraph wires, across the streets. This was the response to a suggestion, made by I.R.A. leaders a week ago, that Drogheda should " go into mourning " to celebrate his visit.

Both the meetings were orderly, but soon after they began skirmishes broke out between small parties of Blue Shirts—men and women—and hostile demonstrators, who included many girls wearing the uniforms of the Republican organisations.

Excitement increased as the day wore on, and youths, carrying Blue Shirt banners, defended themselves with their broken poles against the attacks of angry crowds, while two hundred and fifty Civic Guards, who had been drafted into the town, rushed into the combat with drawn batons.

A member of the League of Youth, named Fitzpatrick, living in Dublin, was bailed out, after having been charged before a Peace Commissioner with assaulting a person unknown. The " unknown " person was said to be a member of the I.R.A., who refused to be associated with the charge.

An elderly man, wearing a blue shirt, who had one cheek and temple heavily dressed, was stated to have been struck with a knuckle-duster.

Girls, who rushed at Blue Shirts and snatched the berets from their heads, were prominent in scuffles which broke out when the League of Youth units were marching away from their meeting.

It was later decided to hold a Blue Shirt dance at the local A.O.H. hall. A large crowd assembled outside the hall and booed the people as they arrived, but a considerable force of Civic Guards prevented serious trouble.

FARMERS IN THE TRENCHES.

General O'Duffy, in his speech, said that the people were told at the last election that, if they voted for Fianna Fail, they would bring England to her knees in a few weeks. Many voted Fianna Fail on the strength of this promise, and had been deceived. Fianna Fail had been unable to inflict any punishment whatever on the enemy, but the enemy had rendered them the crippled soldiers of the war, and their own leaders had brought them no supports.

Though crippled and bleeding, they were still in the front line trenches. They were treated with contempt and callous indifference; the few pounds they had been able to save were being taken from them. They were unable to pay their rates or annuities, or to buy clothing or nourishment for themselves or their children, and, if they dared to complain, if they refused to lick the hand that was bleeding them, they would be thrown into jail.

A WIRELESS SPEECH.

General O'Duffy quoted a recent wireless speech by Mr. Aiken, who said that many an Irish patriot who fell fighting against overwhelming odds would have given his all for their opportunities, with a highly-trained Army and organised State.

"I ask you to pause," said General O'Duffy, "and consider who provided this splendid opportunity which Mitchel longed for. Was it not Arthur Griffith—who died of a broken heart because de Valera refused to accept the will of the majority of the Irish people, and led them into that shocking civil war? Who provided this highly-trained National Army which Aiken now says Owen Roe and Tone would have been so proud of? Was it not, above all others, Mick Collins, who was murdered by the friends and supporters of the Fianna Fail Government? Who organised the other State services of which Aiken now boasts? Was it not the murdered Kevin O'Higgins, whose memory was so shamefully and callously reviled a few weeks ago in the Dail by a Fianna Fail Minister?

"What part did Mr. Aiken take to provide that splendid opportunity to provide that Army and police and other State services? Did he not do his best to deprive us of that splendid opportunity? Did Mr. de Valera not do his best to deprive us of that splendid opportunity? They admit now that they were wrong. It is time to sack de Valera and Aiken. That statement of Mr. Aiken which I have just quoted is the most conclusive justification of those of us who had the foresight then to see the opportunity and to grasp it.

TWELVE YEARS AHEAD.

"Side by side with that I would put President de Valera's declaration in the Senate last June, when he was honest enough to say: 'Things were not the same in 1921 as they have been since the Imperial Conference of 1926. I am prepared to confess,' says President de Valera, 'that there have been advances made that I did not believe would be made at the time.'

"These utterances prove that Fianna Fail is not capable of seeing an opportunity in a lesser period than 12 years. Twelve years from now, when, please God, we shall have abolished partition and restored national self-respect and national prosperity, they will again confess that we were right, and admit that at the time they did not appreciate the possibilities It is time to sack de Valera."

THE ECONOMIC WAR.

Dr. Ryan would tell the people at Dundalk that day that an economic war was better than no war; that we were still winning; that we had brought England to her knees. "The economic war is one of the most absurd things in history—it is an economic fiasco. England is gradually getting from elsewhere all the agricultural produce we supplied," General O'Duffy declared.

"Mr. MacEntee says that the economic war will end some time; but when that time comes I fear the farmers of Ireland will be ended also. Fianna Fail deputies refused to take the oath in 1922 because of principle. They took it in 1927 because of expediency; but consider what Ireland suffered in those five years in human life, destruction and misery.

"They say they fired the first shot in the economic war two years ago because of principle. Now we hear it will be settled some time because of expediency; but consider what the farmers and the workers and the shopkeepers have suffered in the past two years.

WASTED MONEY.

For the past few weeks certain English papers are boosting President de Valera to the skies; they say he is the greatest statesman of our time. There is something going to happen. I hope he will settle the war, but I hope that he will not become a victim of English nattery. We would all like to see a good hard bargain struck and a fruitful settlement arrived at. Whether Mr. de Valera settles the economic war or whether we settle it, it must be insisted on that ample compensation will be made to agriculture for the huge losses it has endured in a foolish and aimless war which should never have begun.

The agricultural industry must then be placed in a solid and permanent position of prosperity and security. The money wasted on the economic war would enable the Government to pay your rates and annuities annually out of the Central Fund, and the money wasted in the civil war would pay the rates and annuities for this generation.

FEELING THE PINCH.

Referring to the fact that Ballinlough Fianna Fail Club (Co. Meath) passed a resolution last week asking that all seizures for annuities be called off at once and that the annuities be funded until the economic war was won, he said that Fianna Fail supporters were beginning to feel the pinch now; they saw the merits of the United Ireland policy, and they were realising that they had been let down by their leaders.

Dealing with the labour policy of United Ireland, he said that the greatest enemy of trade unionism was unemployment. Every unemployed man detracted from the strength of trade unionism. There were over 100,000 unemployed persons in the State at present, and every day added to the number in receipt of outdoor relief. Mr. Norton, after all his support of Fianna Fail, had now to admit that the new factories were a huge scandal.

TENSE SCENES IN MIDLETON.

SHOTS IN EARLY MORNING.

INCIDENT IN A GRAVEYARD.

RIVAL PARTIES OFFER PRAYERS.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

MIDLETON, Sunday.

GREAT excitement prevailed in Midleton, County Cork, to-day, on the occasion of the Clonmult anniversary celebrations, when over four thousand people assembled, half of whom were men wearing blue shirts and women wearing blue blouses. At about five o'clock this morning rival parties came into collision in the town when Blue Shirts were engaged effacing lime-washed inscriptions on the road.

It is alleged that the Blue Shirts were fired at with revolvers by two men on cycles. Later in the day two young men were questioned by the Civic Guard.

GRAVEYARD SCENE.

A procession, which was of very large dimensions, formed up about half a mile outside the town, and proceeded to the Republican plot at Rosary Cemetery.

Here most unpleasant scenes were witnessed when Mr. R. Mulcahy, T.D.; Commandant Cronin, Senator Blythe, Commandant Aherne, his sister, and others, entered with wreaths. Commandant Aherne, whose brother's remains are interred there, placed a wreath on the grave.

Some thirty relatives of deceased men who were assembled protested, and two members of the party protested so vigorously that the Guards who were present were compelled to intervene.

Mr. Mulcahy, having begun to recite the Rosary in Irish, members of the opposition party acted likewise, and at the conclusion Mr. Mulcahy and those who accompanied him left the graveyard.

THE MEETING.

The procession, which was headed by a party of mounted Blue Shirts, then proceeded to the court house, where a platform was erected. Two Chief Superintendents, four Superintendents, some three hundred Civic Guards, and forty members of the C.I.D. were posted about the town.

There was no interference with the laying of a wreath at a cross some two miles outside the town, where Commandant D. Hurley was shot in 1921.

Mr. E. Carey, County Councillor, presided at the public meeting, at which an address of welcome from the Midleton Urban District Council was read by the Chairman, Mr. Thomas Cashman.

SPIRIT OF EAST CORK.

Mr. Mulcahy said that the spirit of those who fell at the battle of Clonmult existed in East Cork to-day, and that spirit would stand against tyranny and oppression. Men had been elected as leaders of the Irish people to-day who lacked the moral courage to shoulder the burden of leadership.

Commandant Cronin said that the meeting was representative of all the available comrades of the men who were killed at Clonmult. Not only were those who pretended to be more Irish than the Irish themselves not so, but they were the greatest enemies Ireland ever had, and if not put out of public life they would reduce the country to a worse condition than had been done by Cromwell.

Foreigners, he went on, had for the past seven hundred years been the curse of this country, but for the past two years it had been cursed greater by them than ever before.

UNITED IRELAND'S PROGRAMME.

Senator Blythe said that the objects for which the men of Clonmult had died had not been achieved, although the British forces had left their shores. They had in the country at the moment partiality, jobbery and demoralisation extending throughout the land. If the ideals for which the men whose memory they were celebrating that day, were to be upheld, it would not alone be necessary to throw out the present Government, but it should be made certain that a similar Government would never again get into power. Such necessary constitutional changes should be made to ensure that the country would not be flung into misery and chaos.

The existing trouble, to his mind, was causing more loss and misery than the civil war. They were not promised by Fianna Fail at the last elections that the country would be impoverished. Fine Gael's programme would cut out the present control of "kangaroo democracy" and substitute continuous control. Under such a system it could not happen that an individual like Mr. de Valera, elected by false promises, would be able to destroy the nation.

Commandant Aherne referred to the incident in the cemetery and said that those who protested there were not with them in 1921, when they did not know where to lay their heads. Those at the graveside protesting that day were in comfortable beds.

Mr. Eamonn O'Neill, T.D., also addressed the meeting.

At the conclusion of the meeting Senator Blythe, Commandant Cronin and Mr. Mulcahy were carried by Blueshirts through the town.

SCENES IN CORK.

COMMANDANT CRONIN ATTACKED.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CORK, Sunday.

There was some excitement in Patrick street, Cork, at about one o'clock this afternoon, when crowds were coming from Church Services. Ex-Commandant Cronin, wearing a blue shirt, and accompanied by two companions similarly attired, appeared at the entrance to the Victoria Hotel to set off for Midleton to speak at the Clonmult commemoration ceremonies.

A group of young men standing close by commenced to booh as Mr. Cronin and his friends got into their car. Suddenly one man rushed at the car and smashed a pane of glass with his fist.

Immediately a crowd gathered around, and as Mr. Cronin and his friends got out of the car to face them, a rush was made and a man attacked Mr. Cronin, whose face was bloodstained.

Civic Guards, who drew their batons, forced the crowd back, and two of them gave chase to a man and caught him. After some time he was allowed to go.

The departure of Mr. Cronin and his companions, one of whom had been cut by the broken glass, put an end to the scene.

There were some scuffles later near the Glanmire station, where a crowd was travelling by special train to Midleton, and two Blueshirts were slightly injured.

Four miners were killed yesterday as the result of a subsidence in the Peronne-les-Binches coal mine, says a Reuter telegram from Mons.

THE SENTENCE ON THE SENATE.

HOUSE TO CONSIDER ITS FATE

PROBABLE TWO DAYS' DEBATE.

REJECTION OF BILL EXPECTED.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

THE meeting of the Free State Senate on Wednesday will be one of the most important, so far as the Senate itself is concerned, which that body has ever held. It will be asked to consider the new bill which President de Valera has passed through the Dail, and which has for its purpose the complete removal of the Senate from its position as one of the essential elements of the Legislature.

Having passed through the Dail, the Standing Orders provide that the bill is assumed now to have had its first reading in the Senate. It will, therefore, appear on the Order Paper for second reading.

In view of the importance of the occasion, special arrangements have been made in connection with the debate, which may extend over two days. President de Valera, who was in charge of the bill in the Dail, will continue to conduct it in the Upper House.

TWO DAYS' DEBATE.

It has been arranged that the debate will continue from 3 o'clock till 8 o'clock on Wednesday, and that no division will be taken that night. On Thursday the debate will be resumed, and will not be interrupted by any other business. If the debate is not concluded by 8 o'clock that evening, it will be continued at 11 o'clock on Friday morning.

It is probable that, as in the Dail, there will be very little speech-making on behalf of the Government to persuade Senators how desirable a thing it is to remove the second Chamber altogether. There is admittedly no enthusiasm among the rank and file of the Government Senators for the removal of that House. In the Dail, apart from the President, there were few speeches from the Government side in support of the bill. Numerous deputies on the Opposition side, however, spoke against it, setting out very cogent reasons why the second Chamber should be retained. Members of the Opposition in the Senate will, it is understood, also put up a strong case in favour of the continued existence of their House. There is, however, hardly any hope that they will be any more successful ultimately than their colleagues in the Dail, whose arguments were brushed aside with virtual contempt.

It will be in the power of the Senate to refuse a second reading to the bill, and the indications are that this will be done by a very substantial majority.

If the second reading is refused, the bill will thereby be held up for eighteen months. Only by the winning of a general election in the meantime can the Government make any further progress with the bill during this period.

BATONS DRAWN AT SHRULE.

BLUE SHIRTS CHASE INTERRUPTERS.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CLAREMORRIS, Sunday.

Civic Guards drew their batons, blows were exchanged, and a youth named Mat Molloy, Kilmacduagh, Kilmaine, a Blueshirt, received injuries to the face at a meeting of the United Ireland Party, which was addressed by Mr. M. Nally, T.D., at Shrule to-day.

When Mr. Nally was about to speak a number of people left the meeting shouting, "Up Dev," "Up Fianna Fail." They remained some distance down the road and continued to booh and jeer.

Blue Shirts made a move to clear away the interrupters, but an appeal from Mr. Nally restored quietness for a while.

FLIGHT AND PURSUIT.

Shortly afterwards a scuffle was seen to take place in the midst of the rival group. Blue Shirts left the meeting, and found one of their comrades, Mat Molloy, bleeding from the mouth. The Blue Shirts gave chase to the crowd, who fled and ran through the village, and sought refuge in houses.

Civic Guards drew their batons and got between the rival groups, but they were outnumbered.

Further down the street the Blue Shirts gathered around a house and called on a man to come out. Guards came on the scene again, and, with drawn batons, succeeded in dispersing the crowd. Afterwards quietness was restored.

INJURED MAN'S STATEMENT

The injured man states that he was coming to the meeting when he was set upon by the crowd. Civic Guards took a number of names, and prosecutions are likely to follow.

The disturbance was strongly condemned by Mr. Nally, who said that it was only another example of how supporters of the present Government were behaving. "But we will hold our meetings in spite of Fianna Fail, and as long as we have the Blue Shirts we will continue to hold our meetings," declared Mr. Nally.

A subsequent meeting at Kilmaine passed off quietly.

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

FUTURE OF THE STRAITS.

It is believed, says The Times to-day, that the Turkish Government are likely to ask the agreement of the Powers who signed the Treaty of Lausanne to the fortification and garrisoning—in fact, to the remilitarisation—of the zones demilitarised by the "Convention relating to the régime of the Straits," and by the "Convention respecting the Thracian frontier." These conventions were attached to the Treaty of Lausanne, and were signed on the same day—July 24, 1923.

It is understood, adds The Times, that, while the Turkish Government have communicated their views in an informal manner to the Balkan States and to other Powers, the form in which their application for permission to fortify these areas may be made is a subject of conjecture.

There is nothing new in the idea of the removal of the western veto on the fortification of the Straits. It has been informally mooted on at least one occasion by an accredited spokesman of the Turkish Government, and the present attitude of Germany towards rearmament is not likely to confirm the Turks in their submission to the military restrictions imposed by the Treaty of Lausanne.

TROOPS FIGHT BIG FIRE.

HEATH BLAZE OF SEVEN MILES.

GUARDS, GUNNERS AND AIRMEN IN ACTION.

Two R.A.F. aeroplanes, four hundred soldiers, eight despatch riders carrying messages from one part of the fire area to another, and firemen co-operated yesterday to fight a great heath and forest fire near Tunnel Hill, Blackdown, Aldershot.

Fanned by a strong breeze, the flames spread with such rapidity that the outbreak covered an area seven miles long and over five miles wide, and surrounding property was threatened.

Dense clouds of smoke hindered the work, and on several occasions the soldiers had to wear their gas masks, as the atmosphere was stifling.

Exploding bullets apparently dropped by soldiers while engaged in musketry training added to the danger of the firefighters.

At one time the flames were within twenty yards of Glen Cottage Farm, owned by Sir Philip Henriques, and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. White.

The Blackdown Fire Brigade hurried there together with a lorry-load of soldiers, and, after over an hour's fight, succeeded in saving the cottage. At one time the occupants prepared to leave, while troops were ready to move furniture and cattle.

TROOPS STAND BY.

Although the fire was under control last night, the authorities decided to take every precaution against a further outbreak, and about fifty soldiers camped there throughout the night.

When the fire was first seen it was heading in the direction of Normandy Park, owned by Sir Philip Henriques, and Henley Park, belonging to Mr. E. Ramsey Moodie.

The vegetation was like tinder, and the flames swept along at a great pace. They could be seen for many miles around owing to the height of the area.

The whole battalion of the 2nd Royal West Kent Regiment, stationed at Aldershot, were the first to be called, and, using shovels and wet sacks, endeavoured to beat out the fire. The flames were so fierce, however, that a larger contingent was sent for, and soon lorry-loads of men of the 1st Welsh Guards, Coldstream Guards, and Life Guards and the 10th Field Brigade Royal Artillery, who are under canvas at Pirbright and Blackdown, were rushed to the scene.

TWO KILLED IN ITALIAN RACE.

BRITISH DRIVERS CRASH.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PALERMO, Sunday.

John and Walter Harrop, two British drivers at the wheel of one of the four British cars competing in the 4,000 miles race round Italy, crashed into a wall last night near Milazzo. Both were injured and taken to hospital.

Mario Guilli, driving a small Fiat, crashed into a wall near Capua. He died on the way to hospital.

A further fatality occurred when Mazzaferro, driving a "Baby" Fiat, overturned at Castro Villari. Mazzaferro and his spare driver, Mazzetti, were seriously injured, the latter dying in hospital.

A Rumanian driver, Berlescu, had a narrow escape when his car overturned at a level crossing at Villorio, in Sicily.

Rossi, driving a Fiat in the 1,100 c.c. Class, covered 1,712 kilometres in 23 hours, 29 minutes, 53 seconds, which was faster than any car in either the 1,500 c.c. or over 3,000 c.c. Classes.

AVUS GRAND PRIX.

Guy Moll, Alfa Romeo, won the over 1,500 c.c. Class of the Avus Grand Prix yesterday (says a Berlin message). His average speed was approximately 128 m.p.h. Achille Varzi, winner of the event last year, finished second. August Momberger, driving one of the new "P" Auto Union Persche cars, was third. Lord Howe, Maserati, finished fourth.

The under 1,500 c.c. Class was won by Pierre Veyron, Bugatti, after a keen struggle with Ernst Durgaller, also driving a Bugatti. Count Luigi Castelberco, Maserati, was third. Veyron's average speed was approximately 114 m.p.h.

A special prize for small cars up to 730 c.c. was won by Adolf Brudes, M.G.

ATLANTIC FLIGHT.

FRENCH AIRMEN'S MESSAGE.

"We expect to reach Newfoundland at 4 a.m. (G.M.T.)."

That wireless message was picked up last night at 8 p.m. from the French airmen, Codos and Rossi, who left Paris yesterday morning in an attempt to fly to San Diego, California.

They are out to beat their own "record" of 5,653 miles, set up in August, 1933, when they flew from New York to Rayak, Syria, beating the previous British "record" by about 300 miles.

During yesterday a number of messages from the flyers were picked up. They reported good weather and steady progress.

STANLEY WOODS' T.T. MACHINE SMASHED.

UNFORTUNATE SWEDISH ACCIDENT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

GOTHENBURG, Sunday.

An accident occurred here to-day in the loading of the Swedish motor cycles for the Tourist Trophy Races, to be run in the Isle of Man on June 11th, 13th and 15th, which will lessen, if it does not keep out altogether, the Swedish participation in the races.

The wire hawser of the crane dropping a lorry containing all the machines into the hold of the boat broke and considerably damaged all the machines.

They were rushed off to the factory, and every effort will be made, mechanics working day and night, to get them ready.

This accident is almost a national tragedy; for Sweden had hoped to gain the supremacy of the motor cycling world with these new machines, and they had engaged two of the greatest T.T. wizards in the world—Stanley Woods, of Ireland, and G. E. Nott, of Birmingham—to ride for them.

The whole of Sweden has eagerly been looking forward to these races, and high hopes of success has been entertained.

It is hoped, however, that at any rate two machines, for Woods and Nott, will be got ready in time.

PREFERENCE FOR BRITAIN.

MR. DE VALERA'S OFFER.

BUT NO HAMPERING BARGAIN.

BIG CONNEMARA MEETING.

FROM OUR REPORTER.

CLIFDEN, Sunday.

THEY were willing to give Britain a preference if Britain gave them a preference for their goods, but would make no bargain with Britain which would prevent them from building their own industries here.

With this declaration Mr. de Valera, President of the Free State Executive Council, concluded his speech to-day before one of the biggest meetings ever held in Connemara.

Previously he had stated that they were in a fight to a finish, and that they would win.

Mr. de Valera was met outside Clifden by a procession which marched through profusely decorated streets to the place of meeting. The procession took about fifteen minutes to pass, and was headed by two hundred horsemen. There was a guard of honour of old I.R.A. West Connemara Brigade, under Brigadier Sean Connolly.

Addresses of welcome were read from several Fianna Fail branches.

Special trains were run from Ennis, Tuam, Athlone, Galway, Loughrea and other places, and brought 2,500 people. Many also arrived by 'buses, lorries, motor cars and bicycles, and the square was thronged by about five thousand people.

GENERAL O'DUFFY'S DISMISSAL.

Mr. C. McGuinness said that President de Valera fought for the people in 1916, and was fighting for them still. The Government had adopted the finest housing scheme in Europe. They had given free milk to the people and free turf to the people of Dublin. They had done the best thing of all in dismissing O'Duffy, because while he was in office there could be no peace in this country.

Mr. de Valera said he had travelled from Dublin to Cork and other places during the past few months, and there was no appearance that their people wanted to surrender. He did not deny that they were passing through difficult times, but every country in the world depending on agriculture was in a bad way.

Their economy had been based so much on agriculture that it was unbalanced. It was Britain's policy to keep this country as a market for her manufactured goods and turn it into a ranch to supply her people in cheap food. The result was that in eighty years their population had decreased to half, while all other countries had doubled. The parts of the country that had lost most in population were not the poor parts, but those with the rich lands. The destruction of the nation was in sight so long as the old policy obtained. Sinn Fein aimed to stop that policy by balancing agriculture with industry, and securing that what could be produced in the country was produced there.

EVERYONE DISTRESSFUL.

If the farmers were passing through distressful times they should remember that in any circumstances they would have distressful times at present because they were distressful all over the world. A British statesman said recently that they got from Argentine almost every article of agriculture cheaper than they could be produced in England. The policy of Fianna Fail was to keep the home market for the home people a market which could not be taken away from them.

The Government had guaranteed a fixed price for wheat. Their mills were working three shifts a day now, and in a short time all their flour would be milled at home. To feed their population they would require 800,000 acres of wheat. In the case of oats and barley they said there should be a mixture of feeding stuffs which would profit the home market. The best way to assist the farmers was to increase the home market by increasing their industrial population, and that was by making in factories and workshops here the articles farmers got from abroad.

The Government proposed to plant 500,000 acres of trees, which would give reproductive employment for about twenty years to a large number. The Government had a housing policy which would cost £15,000,000 to £20,000,000, and it would be carried through in eight or ten years. They were keeping the £5,000,000 a year land annuities here because it was neither legally nor morally due to Britain. They had two sources of satisfaction now which they had not had before. If a person came along and robbed them they could say they could not help it, but if they gave up the money they would be omadhauns. The second point was that, as sure as he was standing there, Britain would not allow them to put a tariff on her goods without retaliating, and would have taxed their cattle in any case. If they surrendered now they never would be able to build up their industry.

Messrs. Gerald Bartly, T.D., and Mr. Cosgrove, ex-T.D., also spoke.

GLASGOW'S SECOND BOMB OUTRAGE.

EXPLOSIVE THROWN INTO BARRACKS.

For the second time within two weeks a mysterious bomb outrage has occurred in Glasgow. This week-end the scene is Maryhill Barracks.

Shortly after midnight on Saturday a bomb in the form of a thermos flask filled with explosives was thrown over the walls of the barracks. It narrowly missed the barrack warden's house, and exploded a short distance from the entrance. No one was injured.

The explosion was heard throughout the Maryhill district, and stated to have been felt over a radius of a mile.

The warden's wife, Mrs. Mortimer, who is an invalid, was alone at the time, and was unable to leave her home to investigate the trouble. She hailed the assistance of soldiers.

A fortnight ago an attempt was made to wreck a recruiting office in Bath street.

THE LOCH NESS MONSTER.

SEEN BY BROTHER OF ST. BENEDICT'S ABBEY.

Brother Richard Horan, of St. Benedict's Abbey, Fort Augustus, claims to have seen the Loch Ness monster on Saturday.

He watched it moving about the west-end of the loch for twenty minutes. Its head and neck protruded above the surface at a sharp angle. The creature disappeared when disturbed by a passing motor boat. Three other Fort Augustus residents say they saw the monster at the same time.

VISIT OF DUKE OF GLOUCESTER.

RECEPTION AT ALDERGROVE.

SOME DRUMMING INCIDENTS.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM AT HILLSBOROUGH.

FROM OUR REPORTER.

BELFAST, Sunday.

THE arrival of the Duke of Gloucester and Earl of Ulster on his first visit to Belfast was awaited at Aldergrove Aerodrome on Saturday evening by the Secretary of State for Air (the Marquess of Londonderry) and a number of officials. During his visit the Duke will be known as Earl of Ulster.

The Duke, who was travelling from London, where he had been present at a family birthday luncheon in Buckingham Palace, in honour of his mother's sixty-seventh birthday, was using an aeroplane recently purchased by his brother, the Prince of Wales, and it was the Prince's personal pilot, Flight-Lieutenant Fielden, A.F.C., who was flying the machine.

Strong north-westerly winds had impeded the progress of the Royal traveller, and it was about 7.30 p.m., an hour and a half after he was due to arrive in County Antrim, when Portpatrick radio station reported the passage of the aircraft, which was accompanied across the Channel by a flight of flying-boats.

Off Blackhead the aeroplanes from the Ulster Squadron of the Royal Air Force sighted the scarlet monoplane, and dipping in salute, took up their stations around the machine, while the flying-boats circled and returned to their base.

THE LANDING.

Within a few minutes the roar of the engines was heard over Aldergrove Aerodrome. The reception group left the warm shelter of the officers' mess, and stood out on the concrete "apron," before the hangars, where the officers and men of the squadron were already drawn up.

The monoplane landed quickly and taxied to near where Sir Dawson Bates (Northern Ireland Minister for Home Affairs) and his colleagues were standing. Followed by his equerry (Captain Howard Kerr), the Duke of Gloucester stepped from the aircraft and was greeted by Sir Dawson Bates. After shaking hands with the Marquess of Londonderry and with Commander Oscar Henderson, C.B.E., D.S.O., who represented the Governor of Northern Ireland, he was introduced to the other members of the party—Major-General E. S. Girdwood, C.B., C.M.G. (General Officer Commanding, Northern Ireland District); Sir Charles Wickham, D.S.O. (Inspector-General of the Royal Ulster Constabulary); Wing Commander J. C. Russell, D.S.O. (Officer Commanding No. 502 Ulster (Bomber) Squadron, R.A.F.); and Major G. A. Harris (Permanent Secretary to the Northern Ireland Ministry of Home Affairs).

When the formal welcomes were over, the visitor passed down the lines of the guard of honour before leaving by car for Government House, Hillsborough, the home of the Governor of Northern Ireland (the Duke of Abercorn). Every few yards along the fifteen-mile route Royal Ulster Constabulary men were stationed, while at cross-roads crowds had gathered, with the members of Orange Lodges and their drums well to the front.

NOVEL PRESENTATION.

The narrow, bunting-strung streets of Lisburn were tightly packed with people, and the noisy tattoo of the drums beat a welcome to the second Royal guest of Ulster within two years. When the Duke of Gloucester's car reached the town it was stopped by a drumming party, who had the Duke a welcome to the province, and presented him with two drum-sticks and an orange silk scarf.

On rolled the little procession, and again it halted in the village of Hillsborough, where the Duke inspected a guard of honour of the North Staffordshire Regiment from Ballykinlar Camp, and so to Government House. Here the Duke of Abercorn met his guest, who is occupying the suite used by the Prince of Wales during his visit in 1932.

BEATING THE DRUM.

From early in the afternoon crowds had gathered in the neighbourhood of Government House, and a few drummers, with two little children—Samuel and Joe McCullough, from Finaghy—both carrying replicas of the big drums, had gained entrance to the courtyard. The drums beat far into the night; but before the house party had dinner the two children were called into the building by Commander Henderson, the Governor's secretary, and given tea.

At about 11 o'clock, while the drums were still beating, the Duke of Gloucester took a stroll in the grounds with some of the other guests, and, meeting a drumming party from Lisburn, was induced to take a big drum from one of the drummers—Dan Patten. Slipping the straps of the drum over his shoulders, he beat lustily on the skin, while he was loudly applauded by the onlookers, who recalled the similar scene which took place when the Prince of Wales was here.

AT CHURCH.

This morning the Duke attended Divine Service in the parish church of Hillsborough with the Governor and the Duchess of Abercorn. The Service, which was the usual simple one of a country church, was conducted by the Rector of Hillsborough (the Reverend F. Matchett). Crowds lined the streets of the village to watch the party's arrival at the church.

Among those who were waiting to greet him was eighty-year-old Samuel Atkinson, in his picturesque seventeenth century uniform of a Hillsborough Castle Guard. He is one of the three remaining survivors of this old force, and after the Service he was presented to the Duke by the Rector.

In the afternoon the Duke of Gloucester drove over to Mountstewart, the home of Lord Londonderry, where he had tea with the Secretary of State for Air, Lady Londonderry and Lady Mary Stewart.

The heavy programme that the Northern Government has prepared for its visitor begins in earnest to-morrow (Monday). He will have very little rest until he returns to England on Thursday next. The grey streets of Belfast are slashed with streamers of bunting, and the Union Jack dominates the scheme of decorations. Every hotel is booked out for the week, and when I visited Balmoral to-day I found crowds of workmen hastening to have all in readiness for the Royal visitor to open the new King's Hall on Thursday next.

Here is the programme which the Duke hopes to fulfil during his visit:—

Monday, May 28th—Lunch at Stormont Castle with the Prime Minister of Northern Ireland (Viscount Craigavon). 2.45 p.m.—Receive addresses from public bodies in the Great Hall of the Parliament Buildings, Stormont. 4.45 p.m. (approximately)—Arrive at the Royal Courts of Justice, after passing through East Belfast, to meet Sir William Moore (the Lord Chief Justice) and the Benchers of Northern Ireland. Return to Government House, via Chichester street, Donegall square, West, Bedford street, and Lisburn road. Dinner party at Government House.

Tuesday, May 29th—12.35 p.m., reception of the Duke of Gloucester and Earl of Ulster at Balmoral by the President of the Royal Ulster Agricultural Society (Mr. J. Milne Barbour) and members of the committee. Ten minutes later the Duke will open formally the King's Hall by switching on a big neon light in front of the building and opening the main door. Afterwards he will be entertained to luncheon by the Society, and will respond to the toast in his honour, which will be proposed by Mr. J. Milne Barbour. Interesting speeches at this function are also expected from the British Minister of Agriculture (Mr. Walter Elliot) when he proposes the toast of "Agriculture in Northern Ireland and the Royal Ulster Agricultural Society," and from the Northern Ireland Minister of Agriculture (Sir Basil Brooke), who will reply. After lunch a tour of the exhibits in the King's Hall will be made by the party before the Duke leaves to inspect Messrs. Gallaher's tobacco factory in York street, the Albion Spinning Company's works, Wellwood street, and the bleaching establishment of Messrs. J. N. Richardson, Sons, and Owden. He will go to Government House for dinner, but will return to Belfast later in the evening to attend a performance of "The Lady of the Camellias," in which Miss Jean Forbes-Robertson plays the leading rôle, at the Grand Opera House. After the theatre the Royal party will go to a dance given at Craigavad by the Royal Belfast Golf Club.

Wednesday, May 30th—Leaving Government House shortly before 11 o'clock, the Duke of Gloucester's first visit will be to the British Legion Club in Castle place, Belfast. Thence he will go to Messrs. Harland and Wolff's shipyard to lay the first keel plate of the new cruiser Penelope. He then will journey by the Belfast Harbour Commissioners' tug to the Clarendon Dock, and lunch privately with the Commissioners in the Harbour Office. Later in the afternoon he will accompany the Duke and Duchess of Abercorn to the Royal Ulster Show at Balmoral, and after dinner in Government House will attend the reception of the Lord Mayor of Belfast (Sir Crawford McCullagh) in the City Hall.

Thursday, May 31st—Return to London by air from Aldergrove Aerodrome, Co. Antrim.

THE BELFAST ELECTION.

ANTI-PARTITION LEAGUE.

From Our Reporter.

BELFAST, Sunday.

A meeting of the Anti-Partition League, on behalf of the candidature of Mr. H. Diamond for the Belfast Central division vacancy, was held this evening at Pell street, Belfast, and there was afterwards a procession through the constituency.

Mr. Hugh Corvin, who presided, said they objected to partition, because it was forced upon them by people who had no right in Ireland. They wanted the people to stand together in that contest as they stood together against conscription.

Mr. H. Diamond, the candidate, said no one could say what the Nationalists had done since they entered Parliament. They had achieved nothing as far as the unity of the country was concerned. Mr. Cahir Healy's advice meant that they must sit and wait till England removed partition. He accused the Nationalists of sitting in Parliament in silence while the House adjourned for Empire Day. The Anti-Partition League stood for the uniting of the Hibernians, Foresters, Republicans, and all national organisations in Northern Ireland in the common cause of Irish unity and freedom. He declared that he was present when the late Mr. Devlin gave an undertaking that he would never again set foot in the Parliament of Northern Ireland. He maintained that the M.P.'s led by Mr. Healy were really out to maintain the British connection.

NEW DERRY CHURCH

DEDICATED YESTERDAY.

From Our Correspondent.

DERRY, Sunday.

Several thousand people attended the dedication of the new Church of St. Patrick, at Pennyburn, Derry City, to-day. The new church is to serve as a chapel-of-ease for St. Eugene's Parish. It is in the form of a Latin cross, in the Romanesque style of architecture, with a tower which contains a bell chamber.

Very many people had to remain outside the church, where Mass was celebrated after the dedication, but by means of loud speakers installed for the occasion the crowds in the grounds were enabled to follow the ceremonies inside the church.

Pontifical High Mass, which began at noon, was sung by the Most Rev. Dr. MacNeely, Bishop of Raphoe, the assistant priest being the Rev. J. L. McGettigan, P.P., Strabane.

The music of the Mass was rendered by the choir of St. Eugene's Cathedral, under the direction of Professor C. J. Haan, Cathedral organist, and an eloquent sermon was delivered by the Very Rev. Finbar Ryan, O.P., twice Provincial of the Dominican Order in Ireland, in which he said—"The dedication of this noble church to-day is but the latest assertion of our determination that Ireland shall be now and for ever the priestly kingdom and a holy nation, the sanctuary of God, the sphere of His rule. It is a challenge to the world that would have done with God, would blast His throne and blot His name and law from all remembrance.'

There was again a crowded congregation at evening devotions. An inspiring sermon was delivered by the Very Rev. J. Cleary, C.SS.R., and the Benediction was given by the Most Rev. Dr. O'Kane.

TWO MEN DROWNED.

A COLLISION AT SEA.

Two men were drowned early yesterday when a steam drifter was in collision with a motor boat off the Durham coast. Three other occupants of the motor boat were rescued by the drifter and taken to North Shields. One of the dead men is John Wilkinson, of Moon street, South Shields.

At the time of the accident the men in the second boat, a fishing smack, were fishing a mile and a half out to sea from the Souter Point Lighthouse, near Whitburn.

The other man was a miner, of Whitburn Colliery. Like other miners in the town, he was frequently on short time, and had been making ends meet by fishing.

DUBLIN DOCK DISPUTE.

At a meeting of the dockers at present on strike at the Port of Dublin, held yesterday, the proposal of Messrs. Palgrave, Murphy, Ltd., that the men should return to work and that a conference should then be held, was rejected. The meeting decided that the strike would be continued pending a meeting between the parties. Eight vessels are now held up.

SLIGO HOUSING INQUIRY.

REMARKABLE EVIDENCE.

MAYOR CONTRADICTS A WITNESS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SLIGO, Saturday.

SENSATIONAL allegations of an alleged attempt to supply evidence were made by Mr. Patrick McGrory, sanitary inspector to Sligo Corporation, at the resumed housing inquiry conducted by Mr. T. W. Wren, B.E., Departmental Engineering Inspector, here to-day.

Mr. McGrory, recalled by the Inspector, was asked to give further particulars of a statement made by him at Thursday's session that a house had been condemned the previous night.

Mr. McGrory said that at the conclusion of Wednesday's sitting the Mayor ordered him to accompany Dr. Quinn on an inspection of seventeen or eighteen houses, not returned as condemned, for the purpose of condemning them. "He went round the houses," witness continued, "and the next morning the Mayor, Alderman Lynch, met me outside the Town Hall. He asked if I did what he ordered me to do. I replied that Dr. Quinn and I had inspected the houses, and could come to no other conclusion except the one we had come to before—that the houses were fit for habitation."

PROTESTS.

Inspector—When the Mayor told you on Wednesday night to do this, did you protest that it would be very irregular?

Witness—I did; but he gave me a definite order. I protested again the following morning. I pointed out that Dr. Quinn could not do it, and the Mayor replied: "If he cannot do it he will get out of here."

Inspector—What particular houses were you instructed to condemn?

Witness—Houses at the river side which I returned to you as not being condemned.

Asked if he had ever been asked previously by a Councillor to condemn houses, the witness said that the day before the inquiry opened Councillor Hunt came into the Town Clerk's office with a document purporting to be signed by Dr. Quinn, and asked witness to change the list of condemned houses he had prepared for the inquiry and put in the names on the document he had with him.

"I pointed out," witness said, "that I could not do that. He became very much annoyed. I pointed out how impossible it was for me to do what he suggested, and that it would mean altering the Executive Sanitary Officer's book. He then suggested tearing the leaves out of the book and substituting others with the names on his list. I pointed out that the book was in the custody of the Town Clerk, and that I could not interfere with it, and that, were I ever so willing, Mr. Bradshaw would not tolerate it.

SURPRISE.

"Councillor Hunt then spoke to Mr. Bradshaw about it, and he said definitely that the thing could not be tolerated. I went to my dinner, and returned at 3 o'clock. Councillor Hunt then came along, and told me that the Town Clerk, who was out, had agreed. I was very much surprised, and I said he had better wait until he returned.

"When he returned he did what I expected—he told me definitely it would not be done."

Inspector—Did you look on it as a deliberate effort to manufacture evidence for that inquiry?

Witness—It was.

Inspector—Did you point out to Councillor Hunt that houses could not be condemned except under certain conditions?

Witness—Yes, but that did not seem to carry much weight with him.

Inspector—Regardless of their condition they were to be condemned in order to provide evidence.

Witness—Yes, regardless of their condition.

Councillor O'Connell, recalled, was questioned on a statement made by him on Wednesday, that if the practice of sanctioning the transfer of a house from a tenant to another person was allowed to continue, people who wanted a house badly could afford to pay £10 or £20 for the key. He said he did not allege that such a thing had happened, but the possibility was there.

A DENIAL.

Councillor O'Connell strenuously denied that, as had been alleged by Councillor Kelly, he said: "We will christen our own children first."

When the applications from Councillors came before the meeting at which the tenancies were allotted, Dr. P. M. Quinn, Superintendent Medical Officer of Health, stated he had no recollection of signing a document for Councillor Hunt on the day before the inquiry opened.

On Wednesday night, he said, he was asked by the Mayor to visit the houses at Riverside, and did so. He found that only two out of seventeen should be condemned. He could not condemn the others.

The Mayor stated that he wanted to contradict Mr. McGrory's statement.

"Months ago," he said, "I ordered Mr. McGrory to go round and inspect all the houses of the town, but he did not carry out my instructions. I certainly asked him on Wednesday evening to visit Mrs Farrell's house. Mr. McGrory has told you that twenty-eight houses there are not condemned. I attribute that to his failure and the failure of the medical officer to discharge their duty."

Councillor Hunt, asked if he had suggested to Mr. McGrory that he should tear leaves out of the sanitary officer's diary, replied that he had not. Continuing, he said he was distinctly under the impression that all the houses returned on the sanitary officer's list as not condemned had in fact been condemned. When he saw the list he concluded that a terrible mistake was being made. He went to Dr. Quinn and asked him about the houses, and the doctor replied: "Certainly I condemned those houses years ago and signed a document to that effect." Witness then went to Mr. McGrory and told him what the doctor said and showed him the list with the doctor's signature.

A NEW COURSE.

Mr. McGrory said that the doctor did not go into half those houses. Witness then asked Mr. McGrory if the houses could not be entered in the book, and Mr. McGrory replied: "No, unless I tear out the leaves, and I will do that if Mr. Bradshaw allows me."

Witness, continuing, said that Mr. Bradshaw heard the suggestion, and said that he would not allow such a thing to be done.

Mr. Bradshaw, asked by the Inspector from whom the suggestion of tearing out the leaves emanated, replied that he could not say, but he definitely said that there could be no alteration whatever.

Mr. McGrory—Councillor Hunt suggested it. I produced the book exhibited and you notice where the leaves are folded. That fold was made by Councillor Hunt to show me how the thing could be done.

On behalf of Councillor Hunt, it was stated that that was not so.

Mr. Wren announced that the trend of inquiry having taken an entirely new course, he felt that he should adjourn the report to the Minister and see if he considered there was substance for the holding of a general inquiry into the Corporation's administration.

HEAD OF HOUSE OF BOURBON DEAD.

His Royal Highness Alphonse-Marie-Joseph Albert, Count of Caserta, whose death at Cannes on Saturday night, at the age of 93 years, is reported by Reuter, was head of the House of Bourbon-Sicily, and had been an exile for 73 years. He was a direct descendant of King Louis XIV. of France. He became head of the House of Bourbon-Sicily on the death of his elder half-brother, King Francis II. in 1894. He was the son of the late King Ferdinand II. of the two Sicilies and Jerusalem.

ALL SCOTCH.

Members of the Dublin Society of St. Andrew and their friends, making a party of over a hundred, spent a very pleasant afternoon on Saturday at the Clydagh Hotel, Greystones. The party travelled by motor 'buses from St. Stephen's Green. Sports and games, including a treasure hunt, were greatly enjoyed. The prizes were presented by Mrs. McKay, wife of the President, Dr. A. T. McKay.

DROGHEDA SCENES.

THE NEW FACTORIES.

Working conditions in the new factories were denounced by Professor M. Tierney, who remarked that everyone in Dublin knew that girls of seventeen or eighteen were employed in the factories for which Mr. Lemass was responsible at a wage of 5s. or 7s. a week. Producing a pamphlet issued by the Irish Women Workers' Union, he read a statement from it that under Fascism women were working in the fields for 2½d. an hour, and said that he would like to draw Miss Louie Bennett's attention to the fact that women were working under her nose in these factories for 1½d. an hour. Did she call that Fascism?

"The fact is," he declared, "that we have being built up here a system of industrial slavery worse than that which prevailed in England during the industrial revolution a hundred years ago. Let Miss Bennett and Mr. Norton deal with that problem before they bother their heads about Fascism and dictatorship. We have plenty of dictatorship already in this country, and it will continue until it is ended by the rise of the young men and women to say they have had enough of it."

Professor Tierney said that while members of the Fianna Fail were declaring from platforms that they would unite all Ireland in a republic, their leader stood up in the Dail and said that he could not declare a republic, even for twenty-six counties, because the British would not give them permission.

"They have the finest opportunity given to any Irishmen if they want to declare a republic—if they have the guts," he said. "Why do they not declare a republic? It is because they never were republicans. If there are any people here who want to see an Irish republic, as I do, they should remember that.

"There is only one way of getting complete self-government for a united Ireland, and that is for all the people of the twenty-six counties to get together on a national policy and have the courage to put that policy into operation, as the people who went before them did," he declared.

BRITISH COLLECTIONS.

Mr. P. Belton, T.D., said that it was time Mr. de Valera made some denial of the British claim to have collected the £5,000,000 due from the Free State. Criticising the farmers of Louth for electing Mr. Aiken to the Dail, he said that Mr. Aiken had done one thing for agriculture—he had formed an organisation to buy seized cattle and dump them on the people of Louth.

Dr. Davitt, T.D., said that the people who had been deluded by the Government's promises into growing tobacco were now sadder and wiser.

Mr. P. Morrissey, T.D.; Mr. J. Coburn, T.D., and Mr. J. Murphy, T.D., also spoke.

CIVIC GUARD INJURED.

A member of the Civic Guards, Sergeant Magennis, of Coolock, was having a meal in a restaurant in Drogheda when he heard a woman shouting in the street outside: "They are killing a Blue Shirt." He went to the door, and as he reached it was struck on the head by an unknown person and rendered unconscious for half an hour.

CLARE MURDER CHARGE.

FIREARMS EXPERT GIVES EVIDENCE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ENNIS, Saturday.

Sean MacNamara, former Director of the League of Youth in Clare, was to-day returned for trial to the Central Criminal Court, in Dublin, on June 11, charged with the murder of James Glynn, a member of the Irish Republican Army, by shooting at him with a revolver.

Mr. McCarthy, S.C. (instructed by Mr. James Lynch, State Solicitor), prosecuted, and Mr. G. Kenny (instructed by Mr. E. Monahan, solicitor) appeared for the accused.

Detective Officer McGrath, a firearms expert, gave evidence that he had received from Superintendent Casey, of Ennis, a Colt automatic pistol, .45 calibre, two empty cases automatic pistol type, one spent bullet, the outer case of a bullet, and two undischarged .45 automatic ball cartridges.

He was satisfied that the spent bullet had been fired from the same pistol, but was unable to say definitely whether or not they had been fired from the pistol.

The two live bullets were capable of being fired from the pistol, which was in perfect working order and appeared to have been very well kept. The barrel was worn from years of use by firing. When he first saw the weapon he was of opinion that it had been recently discharged, but he could not say within what period. The pistol was a 1911 year model of the type used by the United States Army, and not of the type supplied to the services in this country; neither, so far as he knew, was the ammunition, except for use with a Thompson sub-machine gun.

RETURNED FOR TRIAL.

Miss B. Stritch, Matron of the Clare County Infirmary, identified clothing as having been worn by Glynn when he was admitted to hospital.

This concluded the evidence, and Mr. McCarthy asked that the accused be returned for trial on the charge of murder.

Mr. Kenny submitted that there was no evidence on which any jury could convict of murder and asked that the application be refused. If, however, the Justice assented to the application to return for trial then he wished to say that the accused reserved his defence.

District Justice Gleeson informed the accused that he was now at liberty, but not bound to make a statement if he so desired. Any statement made would be taken down in writing and might be used in evidence against him.

The accused said he did not desire to make any statement.

The Justice said he was of opinion that there was a prima facie case, and beyond stating that he would not make any further comment, but would return the accused for trial.

The accused man was then removed in custody.

POLICE WATCH ON NAVAN MAN.

From Our Correspondent.

NAVAN, Friday.

At Navan District Court, Patrick Maguire, Trimgate street, was bound over to keep the peace for three years on his own bail of £10, and to pay back the sum of £3, on charges of breaking into the shop and dwelling-house of Thomas Reilly, Navan, with intent to commit a felony, and also with being in possession of house-breaking implements, to wit, keys.

Inspector Glancy stated that small sums of money were mysteriously disappearing from the petty cash from time to time. At night, when counted, the money would be all right, but in the morning a small sum would be missing.

Guard Delappe stated that at 6.30 a.m. on May 15th while concealed in the shop he saw the defendant enter and go to the money box, but none of the money, which was marked, was taken by him. Defendant was in possession of keys which opened the outside door.

Mr. Noonan, solicitor, for the defendant, pleaded guilty to the charges. The defendant was in poor circumstances, had no work for some months, and did not want to see his wife and children starving. He belonged to very respectable people, who at one time owned these premises, which were sold.

THE LATE CHARLES STEPHENS.

The name of Mr. Mervyn Bourke (grandson) was inadvertently omitted from the list of those who attended the funeral of the late Mr. Charles Stephens.

ITALY TO SPEND £33,000,000.

NAVAL AND AIR FORCE PLANS.

"PERPETUAL PEACE IS NEGATIVE."

MUSSOLINI'S TRIBUTE TO ENGLAND.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

ROME, Sunday.

ITALY is to spend thirty-three million pounds on strengthening her Air Force and her Navy.

This statement was made by Signor Mussolini in an important speech to the Chamber of Deputies on Saturday night, when he announced that an extraordinary grant of 1,000,000,000 lire (£16,500,000) would be made for the Navy and another of £16,500,000 for aviation, to be spread over the next six years.

"We shall employ the 70,000 tons allowed us under the Washington Treaty for the construction of ships of the line," he said. "This will cost about 1,000,000,009 lire, which will be spread over the six years from 1934 to 1940. You must realise that a ship of the line requires not less than four years to complete. In the same period we shall renew the air fleet for a sum of about 1,000,000,000 lire. We have an efficient air fleet, but aeroplanes grow old quickly. An aeroplane after six years is almost decrepit."

World recovery, he said, depended to a large extent on the following principal questions: Disarmament, the Saar, the Danube and the Far East.

DISARMAMENT ABSURDITY.

"Disarmament," he declared, "was proposed to the world under an absurd form. The word 'disarmament' should never have been mentioned, for even under the most ideal proposals the nations will still remain armed. This problem can to-day be considered to be 'liquidated,' but it will, all the same, have some unpleasant results."

The Duce declared that the Italian nation could not, and, indeed, should not, hope for perpetual peace.

"I absolutely disbelieve in perpetual peace," he said. "It is detrimental and negative to the fundamental virtues of men who, only by means of a struggle, reveal themselves in the light of the sun."

The Duce announced that the export of Italian currency was to be generally prohibited.

Referring to Britain and the way in which she had come through the crisis which culminated in her leaving the gold standard in 1931, Signor Mussolini said: "It is true that the situation in England is improving. There has been a reabsorption of workers amounting to between 500,000 and 700,000, and the pound, which is now virtually re-anchored to gold, has resumed what was lost on that fatal day, September 21st, 1931.

"The English temple," he said, "had three columns—the dynasty, the Navy, and the pound sterling. At a certain moment one of these crumbled.

"In any other country what would have happened? Everyone would have rushed to the bank counters, or else everyone would have rushed to buy things in order to have something tangible.

MAGNIFICENT CALM.

"This did not happen in London. The Englishman was a bit dazed, as the Englishman always is when he gets a blow. He then displayed a magnificent calm. The Englishman revealed the rare qualities of his character, the outcome of an age-old training.

"It will be the task of Fascism to furnish the brain of Italians a little less sumptuously in order to develop their character a little bit more."

Italy, he continued, was faced with two grave financial problems—a deficit of 4,000,000,000 lire (approximately £66,000,000) in the Budget for the current financial year, and an estimated deficit of 2,900,000,000 lire (nearly £50,000,000) in the trade balance for the same year. The Government could not ignore these facts. Economies were being made, but little more was to be expected from that source. Taxation had about reached its limit, and it was time the taxpayer was given a rest.

One way of finding relief was to bring down the internal cost of production to that of world prices, and to make this possible Italian workmen must be prepared to take lower salaries, and thereby provide more employment.

MINISTER AND A CHALLENGE.

WHY IT WAS NOT ACCEPTED.

From Our Correspondent.

WEXFORD, Sunday.

Speaking at a Fianna Fail meeting in the Bull Ring, Wexford, Dr. Ryan, Minister for Agriculture, said that there were people standing for the local elections on the other side who were against the collection of rates for political purposes. He thought it would be a great shame for the electors to vote for United Ireland Party candidates, because they were out against the collection of rates in order to hit the Government. The result of the non-collection of rates would be that the poor people would suffer.

Dealing with General O'Duffy's statement at a meeting in Wexford some months ago, that if he (Dr. Ryan) resigned he would beat him six to one, Dr. Ryan said that the Fianna Fail organisation in Wexford sent him a telegram to take up the challenge. He went to his colleagues about the matter, but they told him that he ought to have better sense than to pay any attention to the challenge.

Referring to cattle prices, he said that they were not going to stand any longer for people going around the country buying cattle for home consumption for 15s. per cwt. and charging the same price for beef as if paying 30s. a cwt. A bill was being prepared in that connection.

SOLVING PARTITION.

Mr. MacEntee said that they were going to see that flag of the Irish Republic floating over every sod of Irish soil. It was not going to be an easy job. It had taken them almost eleven years to rally the people from the débâcle of 1922. If the people helped them they would make the country the envy of the world. They would solve partition, because they would make it clear to the people of the six counties that their only hope of salvation was to link themselves with their comrades of the twenty-six counties.

WOMAN IN ZEPPELIN'S CREW.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

BERLIN, Sunday.

The airship Graf Zeppelin last night started its first trip to South America this year with a woman assistant engineer on board. This is Fraulein Kerin Mannesmann, aged 26 years.

Following four days of strike riots, in which three people were killed and many wounded, Toledo was calm yesterday.

WARNING TO FARMERS.

MR. AIKEN AND WHEAT GROWING.

"ACTION WILL HAVE TO BE TAKEN."

From Our Correspondent.

DUNDALK, Sunday.

THOUSANDS of people from both sides of the border thronged the Market Square, Dundalk, to-day at a Fianna Fail meeting. Two bands from Belfast and contingents from other Northern centres were in the procession which met Mr. Frank Aiken, Minister for Defence, and Dr. Ryan, Minister for Agriculture, and escorted them to the meeting place.

Mr. Aiken said that for years they had been preaching the necessity for growing wheat in the Free State, and there were "still farmers who refused to use the best land in the world for wheat-growing.

ACTION TO BE TAKEN.

"We cannot have patience with these farmers any longer," he said, "and action will have to be taken against those who are cornering the land, using it to fatten bullocks that we cannot sell, and refusing to produce the wheat that the Irish people require. If the farmers who have the land at the moment do not do that we will see that farmers are put in who will."

He added that the farmers who had taken Dr. Ryan's advice made more money last year than they made in any year since the war. They were told that the Irish farmer was badly off. He had lost a few pounds on his cattle, but he had his annuities halved, he was getting a large reduction in his rates if he was giving employment, and he was getting more for his eggs, bacon and butter than the foreign farmer was getting. There was a good home market for Irish farm produce, and the Government would see that the man who produced the food would get a decent price for it.

SETTING AN EXAMPLE.

Referring to disturbances at meetings, Mr. Aiken said that they wanted to set not only in the Twenty-six Counties a good example, not only to the future citizens of the Thirty-two County Republic, but to Governments that were living alongside us. One of the most devastating arguments that could be used against them in the North and elsewhere was that they were not an orderly people, and that there was no freedom of speech down here. While they might violently disagree with the opinions expressed at Opposition meetings, it would pay the people of this country a thousandfold to keep away from these meetings, and not interrupt or break them up, as had been done elsewhere.

He disagreed violently with the United Ireland Party policy, and he knew that they were never going to get their foot in again, so they could afford to be generous. Instead of interrupting their meetings or burning their platforms, it would pay Fianna Fail to build platforms for them, in order to let the Blue Shirts come out and make fools of themselves.

WILL NOT BE TOLERATED.

NEW FACTORY SYSTEM.

UNION LEADER'S DECLARATION.

THIS Union will not tolerate them, said Senator Thomas Foran, president, in a reference to the Free State's new factory conditions, at the annual conference of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union in Wicklow on Saturday.

The Senator commented strongly upon the tendency in the new factory system towards driving out of employment adult labour and its replacement by machines or juveniles, with the result that tailors, bootmakers and other old crafts were rapidly passing out of existence. He mentioned the Dail references to the miserable conditions in some of these factories, and said that these conditions, especially in the employment of youngsters, should not be tolerated.

"The I.T.G.W.U. will not tolerate them," he added, "and by a combination of its industrial and political force it will compel both the employers and the Minister to remove that blot on what, on the whole, was a fair prospect of better social conditions in the Free State."

All the experience, skill and power of the union would be used to the utmost to bring about the emancipation of the working class and the substitution of a working class State for the existing capitalist system.

Referring to the past year's progress, he said that the new spirit, determination, and militancy of the workers had brought them into many struggles, and these had led to increased wages and improved conditions on a scale unprecedented in the last ten years. This spirit had also led to the elimination of non-unionism.

ENGLISH UNIONS.

The tendency of Irish workers who had been members of English unions to transfer to Irish unions which had manifest itself previously, had grown even stronger in 1933. The I.T.G.W.U. had naturally the largest share in this movement, and this accounted for some of its increased membership. He believed that the tendency would continue until the entire wage-earning class was organised and controlled entirely from within Ireland.

Senator Foran went on to point out that the union was a great political weapon as well as an industrial force, and was using its political power to render secure the benefits won by industrial action. With five out of eight Labour deputies in the Dail and three out of six Labour senators, it held a great strategic position.

"It is hardly necessary to prove to an assembly of trade unionists that a widows' and orphans' pensions scheme is one of the most valuable measures of social reform," said Mr. T. Murphy, T.D., in a paper, entitled "Pensions for Widows and Orphans," which he read at the conference yesterday morning.

Mr. Murphy pointed out the consequences of the loss of the bread-winner to the majority of families—the financial stress and the pain and humiliation of being dependent upon charity, coupled with the effects of the breaking up of the family circle upon the after-life of the members.

He went on to state that it was anticipated that the Free State scheme would come into force this year, and said that the whole effort of the working-class movement must now be directed towards securing as wide a scheme as possible. He said that the financial provisions mentioned by Mr. MacEntee in his Budget speech, if they are intended to cover a whole year, did not appear to be sufficient for a satisfactory scheme.

The outgoing members of the Executive—i.e., Senator Thomas Foran (General President), Senator Michael Duffy and Messrs. Thomas Ryan and John Daly, were re-elected unopposed.

The discussions will be resumed to-day.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

SENTIMENT OF STOCK EXCHANGE SHOWS IMPROVEMENT: FIRM CLOSE.

Reuter's Telegrams.

NEW YORK, Saturday.

The sentiment of the Stock Exchange showed a noticeable improvement to-day on sporadic indications that the industrial-cum-business situation was beginning to show resistance to the seasonal recession. Operators, however, were still very cautious, and the final gains were confined mostly to fractions. Sales amounted to 280,000 shares.

Prices were firm at the opening, and during the morning the list moved slowly upward. Sugar shares were supported on the announcement of the new beet sugar quotas and on the expectation that the insular quotas will be announced next week. The market closed firm.

Wall street felt a little better regarding the Control Bill following the reports that Mr. Roosevelt, in order to expedite the passage of the measure, will agree to the Glass provision for a special Regulatory Commission instead of administration by the Federal Trade Commission.

Brokerage houses believe that they will get along easier with a separate body in control. Meanwhile the threats of serious trouble in the labour field are being watched very closely.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Saturday.

An accumulation of buying orders, a lack of pressure, and the lightness of offerings combined to cause an early advance on the grain market. Prices continued to strengthen on further reports emphasising the seriousness of crop conditions due to insect activity over widespread areas of the American and Canadian belts, with no relief by rain, and higher temperatures in both sectors. A broadening of outside interest, together with advices of dryness from Australia and Russia, also stimulated sentiment. All grains were then subjected to pressure of professional profit-taking, with prospects of unsettled weather in the North-West during the week-end an additional disturbing influence. Wheat values reached a new high level for the current upturn, general buying including some for Eastern account, together with an improved sentiment, constituted the stimulating influence, but prices subsequently reacted. Maize was favourably affected by the strength of the cash markets and the firmness of wheat. Rye and Oats fluctuated in sympathy with other cereals.

When he had collected £7 the owner told him he did not wish to sell the property. LIFFEY RESCUE.

Thousands of spectators watched an exciting river rescue in Dublin on Saturday morning when three men went to the aid of a man who accidentally fell into the Liffey.

George Waterfield, of Northumberland road, Dublin, was sitting on the wall at Burgh quay, when he overbalanced and fell backwards into the river. He failed to grasp a lifebuoy thrown to him by a Civic Guard.

William Heron, of Lower Buckingham street, and Patrick King, of South Earl street, immediately jumped fully clothed into the water and kept him afloat until William Oates, of Charlemont street, arrived in a boat.

Mr. Waterfield, who was unconscious when brought to the quay, was taken in the ambulance to Jervis Street Hospital, Ambulance Men Gibney and Kavanagh having in the meanwhile successfully applied artificial respiration. He later recovered consciousness, but was detained for treatment.

COLOMBO'S PREPARATION FOR THE DERBY : THE LINGFIELD VICTORY OF MEDIEVAL KNIGHT.

From Our Travelling Correspondent.

LONDON, Sunday Night.

ONE thing has been noticed about the preparation which Captain Hogg has been giving Colombo for the Derby, and that is that he had never sent him over the full distance. It will be remembered that when he was preparing Singapore for the St. Leger he never galloped him over the distance either.

This morning his trainer sent Lord Glanely's colt the full mile and a half at a rousing gallop, in the company of Red Horizon. I was not there, but the reports suggest that Colombo showed no sign of weakening.

I did not expect that he would, because his trainer has no doubt whatever about his ability to get the distance. Colombo has had a good deal of strong work slipped into him lately, and I believe that he could not be better than he is at present.

So far as he is concerned all is set fair, and, in the eyes of his connections, it only seems a question of by how far his jockey will allow him to win. Lord Glanely is taking a cure at Marienbad, and receives a nightly bulletin about his progress.

NEARING THE DERBY.

We are now within ten days of the Derby, and no possible rival to Colombo has appeared, even on a distant horizon. Frank Butters has put a lot of work into Umidwar since his return after his fruitless journey to Hurst Park, but horses do not often win Derbys on these attempts to make up for lost time. Furthermore, he does not strike me as the sort of horse who is likely to show at his best after a preparation in snatches, which, from one cause or another, is all that his trainer has been able to give him.

I hear good reports from Beckhampton of the French colt, Easton, who has done well since he went to Fred Darling.

Early last week I had heard that Tiberius was greatly expected at Manton; at least, to run into a place in the Derby, and that he had answered very satisfactorily every question he had been asked.

He did not answer quite so satisfactorily a question that was asked of him in the Derby Trial Stakes yesterday afternoon at Lingfield, when he was beaten a short head by Easton's stable companion, Medieval Knight, who thus staged some sort of come-back, and certainly improved on his form at Kempton, where he was beaten by Achtenan.

A SLOW RACE.

I do not set a great deal of store by the result of yesterday's race. To begin with, it was run at a muddling pace, which was no good to a sound stayer like Tiberius. The time for the mile and a half was more than eleven seconds slower than the best for the course. This shows how slow it was on firm going and with little or no wind, which was all in favour of fast time.

Nicoll had to make his own running on Tiberius, and it was probably against him that he had to do what he had never done before, and that is, race round turns.

The pace was wretched until they came to the top of the hill, when Nicoll went on, and Tiberius came down the hill adroitly; so he will not be handicapped by the descent at Epsom.

TIBERIUS TOO LATE.

Meanwhile, Gordon Richards had been lying fourth on Medieval Knight, and two furlongs from home he began a quick run. He got to Tiberius in the last fifty yards, and got a neck or more in front, but the moment he did so Tiberius came again. He was too late, and Medieval Knight had got the decision, although in the next few strides Tiberius was in front.

Medieval Knight ran his race out much more gamely than he had done at Kempton.

The race did show that Tiberius had made a great deal of the improvement claimed for him. At Newbury Medieval Knight gave him 13lb. and finished four lengths in front of him. Here there was nothing between them at evens. I do not think that either has a faint hope of beating Colombo in the Derby. On Top, a colt bred by Mrs. Dennehy, was third, and did so well that his trainer intends to run him in the Derby.

CLASSIC COLTS AT LINGFIELD.

There was a wonderful attendance at Lingfield. The presence of a few classic colts is always a draw, and then there was Myrobella making her first appearance of the season, and also her first appearance in a handicap in which she had 9st. 7lb.

The crowd flocked round Myrobella when she came into the paddock before the race for the Old Mill Handicap, for her exploits have made her a great public favourite. She looked as beautiful as ever, and showed that she has lost none of her old speed, winning by half a length from Spirituelle II., a French filly trained by Mr. Lambton, in the very fast time of 58 3-5 secs.

Spirituelle was not fancied, but she never was far from the National Stud filly. The second, who had form last year, is probably smart, and the likely winner of good races this season, so that Myrobella may have been doing a good deal when she gave her 21lb.

A GOOD THIRD.

Figaro, receiving a stone from the winner, ran a good race to finish third, a length and a half away. He was meeting Manitoba on 17lb. worse terms than when Lord Woolavington's colt ran him to half a length at Newbury.

Public form pointed to the chance of Compote, who had been placed in three of her four races, in the Wray Maiden Plate for two-year-olds, and the Highborn filly was made favourite at 6 to 4. Bravura led her for three furlongs when Rufus Beasley went ahead on her, and then she won easily by two lengths and a length from Blue Book and Bermuda.

Compote is only moderate, and her trainer did not keep the bidding going long to retain her. She was sold for 400 guineas to go to South Africa.

ANTIDOTE'S FAILURE.

Antidote looked remarkably well handicapped in the Selling Welter, but the way in which he turned it up when he had the race at his mercy showed the soundness of judgment of Frank Hartigan in letting him go after he had won a selling race at Epsom. When Kotic came to challenge him he dropped his bit, and then the 20 to 1 chance, Hindustan, came to beat both.

The Beacon Maiden Plate, which had an original entry of 46, only attracted four runners. Lord Howard de Walden's Sewin was made favourite, and he duly won by a length from Wing Commander, after the jockey on the latter had appeared to mistake the winning post. The apparent error made no difference to the result.

Lord Carnarvon goes from one success to another. He figured yesterday as the owner of the winner of the Manchester Cup and today as the successful jockey on Mr. R. C. Dawson's Knight of Lorn, on which he won the Lingfield Club Welter cleverly from Mr. Gerald Armstrong on False Point.

CHATELAINE'S COLLAPSE.

I see that one explanation of the collapse of Chatelaine in the Manchester Cup is that she became set fast. It is no uncommon thing for a horse to become set fast in his box when he has cooled down after a race, but I have never before heard of one getting set fast at half way in a race like the Manchester Cup.

This explanation does not satisfy. The incident is hard to explain. Nicoll told me yesterday that she was pulling double when she began to shake under him and nearly put him out of the saddle. She could hardly walk off the course afterwards.

One always looks forward to racing at York in the full assurance that there will be no disappointment. It is unlikely that the going will be hard there when we begin racing on Tuesday—at least, anything like as hard as it is in the South; for the rain belt has extended right across that part of England which lies north of the Trent.

Occasionally one of valuable weight-for-age races, like the Londesborough Plate or the Sledmere Plate, is chosen to give a Derby colt an outing, but we shall see nothing in that class in either of these races this week.

THE YORKSHIRE CUP.

The Yorkshire Cup on Wednesday promises to be an interesting race. It was won last year by Sir Alfred Butt's Orpen, who started at a long price, while his stable companion, Taj Kasra, was a hot favourite.

This year Sir Alfred has Young Lover engaged, and he is top weight with 9st. It is the first time he has run in a handicap, but, on his performances last season among the classic colts, whom he was not far behind, he is entitled to it. He has not run this season, but he has done a thorough preparation with this event in view, and I expect to find him well fancied for the race.

Then there is the problematical Hill Song, 4lb. below Young Lover. He ran a good race on this course last year in the mile and a half of the Great Northern Handicap, in which, through coming so late, he failed to get to Venturer. Then his form began to taper off, and he was gelded towards the end of the season, which operation is said to have done him good.

BRUNSWICK'S FORM.

Brunswick was only beaten by Negro in the Queen's Prize, form that was subsequently enhanced when the latter was second to Blue Vision in the Chester Cup, after being a trifle unlucky in the running. Brunswick is not a colt I care a great deal about, as he has not always seemed to put heart into his task.

Blue Vision did not run for the Cosmopolitan Cup at Lingfield on Friday on account of the hardness of the ground. If the going is suitable, she will go here, and she is such a game mare that her chance cannot be ignored.

There are several other likely runners in this race, who also took part in the Chester Cup, Bonny Brighteyes being one, and he was finishing strongly on the Roodee.

Dictum and Mannablue were other participants at Chester. I do not think the latter was much fancied there, yet nothing was going better in the race up to two miles. He won on the York course last year when little expected to do so, and is in now with 7st. 5lb.

THE CHANCE OF MANNABLUE.

I have a great respect for the chance of Mannablue, who is most likely to run into a place, but the class of Young Lover cannot be overlooked.

We should see some good two-year-old racing during the three days. The Golden Araby filly, of whom so much is thought in Captain Hogg's stable, ran green at Newmarket on the occasion of her only appearance.

I am sure that this was not her right form, and it may trouble Tribulation (the Tivoli Girl colt), useful as I think him to be, to give her 8lb. This race was won last year by Colombo.

We have a good two-year-old race at Doncaster on Friday, the Lonsdale Foal Plate, in which Avertin, who finished second to Tribulation before she beat the Brocklesby winner, Vermiel II., is a likely runner.

Knighted, I believe, misses this; but the smart Sea Nymph may run, as well as several others that have shown some form. It is likely that the best will be Avertin.

GALTEE MORE.

SHAMGAR SCORES.

MR. ARNOTT AND W. O'GRADY GAIN DOUBLES AT NAAS.

THE Naas meeting on Saturday proved a big attraction, the attendance being one of the best of the season. It was consequently a pity that the programme was not of a more entertaining character, but this is a matter not easy to manage just at present, with so many important fixtures crowding into a busy fortnight.

The withdrawal of Newtownmountkennedy from the Directors' Steeplechase owing to an injury reduced the field for this well-endowed event to four runners. The race was also further robbed of its interest when, just as an exciting tussle was promised between Shamgar and Claremount, the latter came down at the last fence, leaving Shamgar an easy path to victory.

ANOTHER WINNER FOR W. HOWARD.

Mr. Herbert Dudgeon must be counted unlucky not to have won the Newlands Plate with his two years old Brawl, who looked all over a winner until he swerved, and Bertha, who kept a straight course all the way, beat him by half a length. W. Howard, who steered home Bertha, is one of the most capable of our light-weight jockeys, and this season is riding better than in other years. He also won on Veletta at Gowran Park on Thursday, and is likely to be much in demand for the remainder of the season.

Mr. M. Arnott continued in the winning vein which he started about a month ago by saddling two more winners now. He won the Sallins Plate with the Hon. Brinsley Plunket's Buckup Bryant, who, after an interesting set-to, just mastered Sherlock Holmes in the last few strides. Ca-Ca-Ce ran on well under his big impost of 9st. 1lb. to finish third, but Black Wings was out of the reckoning very early in the fray.

MR. M. ARNOTT'S DOUBLE.

Melusine had shown such useful form by finishing second to Kilrue at the Phœnix Park March meeting that it looked as if in the Kill Plate an opportunity would be afforded for a turn in the ill luck which has pursued Mr. G. P. Gilpin this season. The daughter of Knight of the Garter was in front for most of the way, but, failing to resist a determined challenge from Come by Chance, the latter caught her on the post to make a dead-heat. Both were then submitted to auction, and, whereas nobody felt disposed to make a bid for Melusine, Come by Chance was bought in for 75 guineas.

Limna's easy win in the Wallop Plate paid tribute to the form of Gipsy George, who at Baldoyle easily beat him. He was again ridden by Mr. A. M'Cormick, who with more experience should develop into a very successful amateur rider.

The All Ireland Farmers' Trophy proved what it looked to be, something akin to a walk-over for Cottage Owl, whose victory completed double events for Mr. M. Arnott as trainer and W. T. O'Grady as rider. Details:—

ALL JUMPING.

A CONFIDENT VOTE FOR TORMORE IN STEWARDS' HURDLE.

THERE is some attractive racing under Jockey Club Rules this week, but to-day the Colwall Park executive enjoys a clear field for their one-day jumping programme. It is the last meeting under National Hunt Rules until August Bank Holiday. Although the going may restrict the size of the fields, there should be sufficient runners to keep the proceedings interesting throughout.

The Ledbury Selling Hurdle should see a brisk start, as there are several useful "platers" engaged. Sunflake, a winner at Cartmel on Whit Monday, has not been put out of court by a 5lb. penalty, and he has been so consistent this season that I expect to see him one of the best backed.

Vain Prince is trained in a stable which usually has a winner at this meeting, and I believe there were good excuses for his failure to land the odds laid on him at Cardiff recently. Double Rock, who will not be upset by the galloping conditions, was narrowly beaten out of a place at Uttoxeter, but, at the weights, I have a slight preference for

MOTI MIA.

This horse failed by only a short head to give 13lb. to St. Fergus at Stratford-on-Avon recently, and the form looks pretty useful. He finished well ahead of Glitter Mac, a subsequent winner, who has only a pound pull. If he should not be saddled, I would row in with Sunflake.

Swanlake Bay has earned every pound of her big burden in the Stewards' Handicap Hurdle, but she may find too great the task of conceding 13lb. to Priodonte and Sigari, who have been thereabouts in all their recent races. I prefer Sigari of this pair, for he was up against a very useful performer when beaten by Certainly Not at Cardiff. For my selection, however, I give a confident vote to who, prior to running second under a 10lb. penalty at Newton Abbot, won in fine style at Stratford-on-Avon.

EARTHROPP'S SELECTED

of Riverholme and Inkbarrow should win the Eastnor Park Maiden Hurdle, and I fancy will be good enough to augment his Buckfastleigh success in the Barton Selling 'Chase despite a penalty.

ALL OVER

There are no fewer than five penalised horses in the British Camp Handicap 'Chase, which I leave to who has done well of late for J. Hall.

EBON KNIGHT

is probably the pick of an interesting entry for the Colwall Park Hunters' 'Chase.

DERBY HORSES GALLOPED.

The Derby favourite, Colombo (ridden by W. Johnstone) gave a fine display at Newmarket on Saturday, when, over a mile and a half, he finished well in front of Red Horizon, who was purchased recently to lead him in his work.

Umidwar also gave every satisfaction in a mile and a half gallop. H. Wragg rode him, and others in the spin were Alishah (R. Perryman), Badruddin (C. Dickens), Witch Doctor II., Achtenan and Long Lover. Umidwar was behind in the early stages, but had caught the others five furlongs from home, and he finished strongly.

Another Derby colt to please was Valerius in a gallop of a mile and a half with Blandearna.

At Lambourn on Saturday, in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. de Rothschild, Patriot King, ridden by G. Bevant, went well in a good striding gallop with Lament and Sun God (B. Lynch).

Windsor Lad had a good striding gallop over a mile and a quarter with Washington, and he, too, went well.

EXCITING MATCH AT A.I.P.C.

IMPRESSIVE FORM BY MAJOR O'RORKE.

A.I.P.C. .... 4 QUIDNUNCS 3

One of the features of an interesting match at the Nine Acres, Phœnix Park, on Saturday, where A.I.P.C. beat Quidnuncs 4-3, was the excellent play of Major O'Rorke at No. 3 for the winners.

Major O'Rorke was ideally suited to the open game, and here he gave what was easily his best display this season. Mr. Martin, the winners' back, was also in tip-top form and his sure stickwork took his side out of several awkward situations.

Mr. Larminie (No. 2), riding hard throughout, helped himself to three of his side's four goals, while Messrs. Shillington and Walsh, who each played two chukkars at No. 1, were sound.

Major Kirkwood was the driving force on the Quidnuncs side, and he had a hard afternoon's work, for Mr. Shillington at times rode off well. The Major's stickwork was very sure on either side. Mr. Slocock (No. 2) played a very hard game, and was unlucky with a couple of scoring efforts.

On the Quidnuncs team Mr. Phibbs and Mr. Malcolmson took turns at No. 1 and both acquitted themselves creditably.

Combining slightly better in the first chukkar A.I.P.C. had a two goals' lead at the end of this period, which was very fast, Mr. Larminie being the scorer on each occasion.

Quidnuncs dominated the opening play in the second session, and after Major Kirkwood had reduced the lead Mr. Phibbs hit through for the equaliser. A splendid goal by Major O'Rorke, however, who came through from half-way, restored Quidnuncs' lead again before the bell.

The third chukkar was the best of the four, and here there was some excellent play before Mr. Larminie scored to give Quidnuncs a 4-2 lead. In a rousing finish Major Kirkwood, after being nicely placed by Mr. Johnson, scored the last goal of the match. Teams:—

Quidnuncs—Mr. D. P. Phibbs (1), Mr. G. Malcolmson (1), Mr. S. Slocock (2), Mr. J. Johnson (3), Major T. W. Kirkwood (back).

A.I.P.C.—Mr. A. Shillington (1), Mr. Desmond Walsh (1), Mr. J. P. Larminie (2), Major J. O'Rorke (3), Mr. J. Martin (back).

ATHLETICS.

CORK'S GREAT EFFORT.

INTER-UNIVERSITY TROPHY RETAINED BY U.C.D.

BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

QUEEN'S University are not now, unhappily, in the National Athletic and Cycling Association, so the inter-University contest at the Mardyke, Cork, on Saturday resolved itself into a battle between the constituent colleges of the National University and Dublin University. And what a set-to it was!

With only the quarter-mile to be decided and the certainty that the Cork college would win it with J. J. O'Sullivan, University College, Dublin, were leading by 11 points to 9. The maximum score in the 440 yards would give Cork the premier award, and it was decided after much head-scratching by the Cork officials to replace T. MacCurtain with T. P. O'Brien in the forlorn hope that the latter would score that extra point. It must have been regarded as such, for O'Brien had won the half-mile and mile, and the opposition in the quarter included M. J. O'Sullivan, R. H. Wallace and G. A. Levis.

It was fitting, therefore, that this race should prove the most exciting of the series and that the contest should thus close on an exceptionally high note. Indeed, it was only in the last thirty yards or so that O'Sullivan asserted himself over Trinity's brilliant young hurdler, Wallace, who almost collapsed six yards from the tape, but staggered on with magnificent courage to be beaten by only a yard by the Corkman, who had to put in every ounce for the last furlong. On the short track the inside berth gave its occupant a solid advantage, and it was probably the knowledge of that that tempted Wallace to set the hot pace until O'Sullivan put in his challenge half-way down. M. J. O'Sullivan was third, and so, with the two teams finishing all square, University College, Dublin, with three thirds to Cork's one third, won the championship for the sixth successive year.

INDIVIDUAL WINNERS.

The individual winners were:—
100 Yards—M. J. O'Sullivan (U.C.D.).
220 Yards—J. J. O'Sullivan (U.C.C.).
440 Yards—J. J. O'Sullivan (U.C.C.).
Half-mile—T. P. O'Brien (U.C.C.).
One Mile—T. P. O'Brien (U.C.C.).
120 Yards Hurdles—R. H. Wallace (D.U.)
High Jump—D. Sheehan (U.C.D.).
Long Jump—J. M. Howe (D.U.).
16lb. Shot—J. Russell (U.C.C.).
Discus—O. L. Wallen (U.C.D.).

The honours, however, must be handed out to the Cork College, inasmuch as they were first in half of the events—the 220 yards, quarter mile, half mile and shot—whereas University College, Dublin, scored but three firsts—the 100 yards, high jump and discus. On the other hand, however, the Dublin College were seen to greater advantage as a team, as they had five seconds and two thirds to Cork's one second and one third. Nor were Trinity so much out of it, only three points dividing them and the dead-heaters.

We had none of those "records" that have been so much written up recently, which was not surprising, for the "records" for these events were set by such as M. Moroney, T. D. Phelan, P. C. Moore and Dr. O'Callaghan.

ANOTHER TISDALL?

J. J. O'Sullivan, however in the quarter got to within a fifth of a second of Moore's 51 2-5 seconds, and M. J. O'Sullivan was only a fifth outside J. P. Gregg's 10 1-5 for the 100 yards, while in the final of the hurdles R. H. Wallace seemed to be going a bit faster than 16 1-5 seconds. Wallace will do much better than that before the season closes. He is hurdling in more finished style than ever, and apparently moving faster. One would like to see him in a few events over 440 yards; he may be another Tisdall for all we know.

The "star" of the meeting was J. J. O'Sullivan, who ran two grand races in the 220 yards and quarter; but he was hard pushed by M. J. O'Sullivan in the 220 yards to win by a couple of feet, the U.C.D. man fighting it out with great spirit for the last 100 yards, after putting in two excellent performances in the sprint, in the final of which he beat the Cork representative by a foot. T. P. O'Brien, last year's winner, retained the half-mile after a good race with R. A. Walker, of Trinity, and allowing B. Ball, of Dublin University, to make most of the running in the mile, he came away 200 yards from home to win by almost twenty yards.

Except for J. M. Howe's long jump of 22 feet 7 inches (his last effort), there was really nothing to write home about in the field events, but, all round, it was a splendidly successful meeting, even though the form in some of the events was rather disappointing. Are our university athletes making the most of the training facilities provided for them? It does not seem as if they were.

CIVIL SERVICE SPORTS.

N. COMISKEY'S DOUBLE EVENT.

There were several interesting features in the Civil Service sports at Croke Park yesterday. W. Rangley, of Salford Harriers, the English Olympic runner, gave a delightful display in winning a 300 yards handicap fairly comfortably from L. D. E. Cullen, but the size of the field gave him no chance of coming through in the 440 yards handicap. Cullen, a prominent Clonliffe Harrier of a few years ago, who is now home on leave from the Malay States, also ran second in the 100 yards, but had he got away to a better start he might have won, as he put in a fine finish and nearly caught Flannery, the winner, on the tape.

N. V. Comiskey brought off a capital double in the 220 and 440. He was favoured by the handicappers in the first race, which he won with the greatest ease, but he had to put in a strong finish to breast the tape inches in front of A. P. Russell in the 440. The former University College man, J. O. Collins, gained an impressive win from a big field in the half-mile, but the best finish of the day took place in the two miles. W. Walsh seemed to have too much reserve down the straight for M. Finglas, of Clonliffe, but the latter produced a remarkable sprint, only to fail on the tape by the narrowest possible margin. Both deserve great praise for putting in such a finish to a gruelling race.

There were cross-Channel competitors in the cycling events also, and they took the first three places in the 1½ laps scratch race, but A. Donegan created a surprise by beating Sibbitt, of Manchester, by half a wheel in the five miles scratch. Results:—

BOXING.

MIZLER'S ONE-HAND VICTORY.

Although he boxed for eight rounds with an injured right hand, Harry Mizler, the British light-weight champion had no difficulty in defeating "Tiger" Defer, of France, on points, in a ten rounds contest at The Ring, London, yesterday. Mizler gave a great display of left-hand punching, and won nearly every round. Defer landed an occasional right-hand punch to the head, and he was a very plucky loser, having taken considerable punishment throughout.

GREYHOUND RACING.

CONSISTENT KERRY DOG.

FAVOURITES SCORE AT SHELBOURNE PARK.

Followers of favourites had rather the better of matters on Saturday night at Shelbourne Park, where the majority of the events were won by the most fancied candidates. The Kerry dog, Dhu Lomawn, followed up his recent success by winning the Shelbourne Stake, just staying on long enough to beat Retreat, who had put in a great burst in the last few yards. Singing Heart, favourably drawn, won the Clonmel Stake after Gyp's Peggy had threatened danger for a good part of the journey. Early Snowball showed fine stamina in winning the Clounanna Bitch Stake of 550 yards, and Helen's He Hay took the Mullingar Stake, in which Hamwood Lass led until rounding the last bend. Hot Shot showed his jumping ability by winning the Shelbourne Hurdle from a good class field, and Sail was a decisive winner of the Celtic Hurdle. Details:—

More Additions to D. G. Snow's Team.

Cynic, a three-year-old gelding by Cyclonic out of Madame de Stael; Result, a five-year-old gelding by Somme Kiss out of Bachelor's Fun, and the three-year-old gelding by Friar Marcus out of Rosula, have joined D. G. Snow's team at Barrett's Farm, Eastbury, to be trained. The above horses belong to Miss Dorothy Paget, and it is understood that although A. B. Briscoe, as hitherto, will have most of her horses. D. G. Snow will have charge of a few of them.

ROGERS'S Irish One Thousand Guineas filly, Ladytown, Western Front, Tolling Belle, Gold Period, Essex Lad, Black Points, Taffeta, Fearless Prince and the two-year-olds did five-furlong cantering exercise.

SLOCOCK'S Morning Caw, Lass of Rheims and Jack's Choice did steady work. Glum Jess, Jack Fly, Gabarnac and Tonella galloped four furlongs and a half at a good pace.

FINE PERFORMANCE BY IRISH SCHOOLBOYS.

ENGLAND .... 1 IRELAND 0

The first match between English and Irish schoolboys was played at Celtic Park, Belfast, on Saturday, before about 15,000 spectators, the English side winning by one goal to nil, and thus securing the Victory Shield, which this year was competed for by England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland. England had beaten Scotland 4-1, and also accounted for Wales, so that the Irish boys in losing only by a single goal accomplished a really good performance. Chief credit for this, however, goes to the defence, for the English team was not only physically stronger, but also much more skilful.

FREE STATE CLUBS COMPETE IN BELFAST.

Two Free State clubs, Shelbourne and Dundalk, took part in the five-a-side competition promoted by the R.U.C. at Windsor Park, Belfast, on Saturday, and the Scottish clubs, Glasgow Rangers, Clyde and St. Mirren, also sent teams. Dundalk were beaten 3-2 by R.U.C. in the first round, and Shelbourne 4-0 by Clyde in the second round. Glasgow Rangers won the competition, defeating Linfield 1-0 in the final.

BRADMAN IN FORM.

ANOTHER CENTURY FOR HENDREN AGAINST AUSTRALIANS.

THE success of Hendren in hitting a hundred for the second time against the Australians this tour, and of Middlesex in disposing of Woodfull and Ponsford without either batsman scoring, made Saturday's match at Lord's full of interest. Middlesex put together a total of 258, and stayed in until nearly five o'clock, but their innings proved very uneven, Hendren and Robins between them scoring 180 of the runs. Coming together with three wickets down for 34, those batsmen gradually took the measure of the bowling, and, hitting finely after lunch, altogether put on 142 runs in an hour and three-quarters. Hendren, if taking a quarter of an hour over a single afterwards, met the bowling with splendid confidence. In point of merit this innings did not rank so high as that which he made for M.C.C. against the tourists, because Hendren, when three, should have been caught at the wicket, and when 39 Garnett missed a great chance of stumping him.

Ebeling bowled with his right arm bandaged above and below the elbow—he injured it during the Oxford match—and took the first two wickets with consecutive balls. He looked the best bowler, though Wall, on a wicket not exactly true, frequently made the ball keep low.

J. Smith, the former Wiltshire player on M.C.C.'s staff, just qualified for Middlesex, secured the wickets of Woodfull and Ponsford in eight balls at the cost of a single. All the nine runs on the board when the second wicket fell came from Bradman, who, very severe on the bowling of Judge, hit 53 out of 81 in three-quarters of an hour.

The Australians made good their recovery by hitting 100 runs in an hour, and Bradman, even with such an enterprising batsman as Darling in with him, dominated the scoring so completely that he reached his individual 100 off the last ball of the day.

By brilliant hitting, nearly all in front of the wicket, he obtained nineteen 4's. The tourists finished 123 behind with eight wickets standing. Score:—

CLONGOWES BEAT PAST.

The annual match between Present and Past was played yesterday, Union Day, at Clongowes Wood College when the Present gained a meritorious victory by 72 runs. The Present batted first, and fared badly against the bowling of P. Murphy, the old Gentlemen of Ireland cricketer. Six wickets were down for 28, but with P. Boled (38), S. Higgins (46) and F. Phelan (32) batting well, the total reached 145. The Past made a poor show, and all were out for 71, though D. J. Murphy batted well for 28. Score:—

PEMBROKE'S BEST FORM.

Pembroke outplayed a strong Phœnix team at Sydney Parade on Saturday, and won by the decisive margin of nine wickets. The pitch was good, yet Phœnix, going in first, were all out for 71. Pembroke passed that total for the loss of one wicket, and before play ended had made 209 for 9 wickets, nearly every member of the team scoring freely. A. G. Murray gave his side a good start by knocking up 21 in confident style; W. F. Aylward played fine cricket for 35; S. G. Murphy hit hard for 32, and best of all was the 51 not out of H. P. Beamish. J. C. Boucher, who went on as a change, caused trouble, and had four wickets at eight runs each. T. F. Ward, the fast bowler and T. C. Williams were responsible for the comparative collapse of Phœnix, sharing the wickets evenly, while Williams also made 20 with the bat getting the winning hit—a lovely off drive for four. When things were going badly for Phœnix P. J. Quinn batted soundly for 19; and Boucher, having made 14, was doing well when Murray caught him out from a big drive to the canvas. Score:—

Y.M.C.A. BAT WEAKLY.

At Anglesea road, Merrion gained an easy victory over Y.M.C.A. by 128 runs. Batting first, Y.M.C.A. could do nothing with the bowling of Little and Shortt, and were all disposed of for the meagre total of 54. Shortt and Little bowled unchanged, and were very accurate all through. Merrion started their venture poorly, but Bex batted steadily for 14, and then J. A. Delaney hit out vigorously, scoring two sixes and four fours in his 42. T. O'N. Kiely gave a grand display of free hitting nearing the end, and had one six and six fours in an exhilarating innings of 35. Scores:—

HAPPY DAY FOR BOWLERS.

Low scoring was the order at Castle avenue on Saturday, where Civil Service beat Clontarf by the narrow margin of two runs in their League match, over three hours batting only yielding a total of 96 runs. The bowlers held the upper hand on a drying pitch, and, with keen fielding, runs were hard to get. Clontarf batted first, and losing five wickets for 22, were all out for 47 in an hour and a half. Civil Service went none too well, losing eight wickets for 28. George and Fogarty made a stand for the last wicket, George getting 15, and making the winning hit—a fine square cut to the boundary off Martin—and the innings ended at 49. Score:—

CONNELL JUST MISSES A CENTURY.

Some highly interesting cricket was witnessed on Saturday in the College Park, where Leinster, the Senior League champions, beat Dublin University by 48 runs, with 5 wickets to spare. The match was featured by two splendid partnerships by G. K. Donald and E. S. Barber for Trinity and F. G. Connell and L. A. Bookman for Leinster. The University, who had first use of a perfect wicket, made a disastrous start, and in half an hour had lost 4 wickets for 8 runs, while 7 were down for 25. Donald and Barber then came together, and they put up a determined front to the Leinster attack. Both men hit freely, and the score was advanced to 112 before Barber left for an excellent 32. R. H. Martin was not long collecting 25, and the innings eventually realised 164, the outcome of two and a half hours' play. Donald carried out his bat for 72. The Trinity captain made his runs in the brightest style, and hit two sixes and nine fours. J. R. Graham, who at one period had taken 3 wickets in 6 overs for 1 run, was the most successful bowler, with 4 for 40.

Leinster had little difficulty in getting the runs. They passed the home total for the loss of 2 wickets, and went on to make 212 for 5 wickets. Connell and Bookman made the game safe by a great third wicket partnership, which added 138. Both batsmen were most aggressive, and Connell particularly so. The latter was the first to leave, having the hard luck to miss his century by 2 runs. It was one of the best innings Connell has played. He cut and drove in splendid style, and his chief hits were two sixes and nine fours. Bookman showed all his old-time form in making his runs, which were obtained all round the wicket. Score:—

At Downpatrick Armagh scored 217 for 5 (declared) (W. McKinley 67 not out, Macaulay 60), and Downpatrick were all out for 157 (C. Morrissey 42).

North Down, at Donacloney, had a comfortable victory. Donacloney, after losing 6 wickets for 12 runs, made 78 (James Douglas not out 27, Boucher 14). Dr. R. E. Clarke had 6 wickets for 32 and James Macdonald 3 for 28. After passing the homesters' score without loss North Down scored 191 for 9 (R. Shields 43, Donnan 40, L. Armstrong 4 for 27).

YACHTING.

MANY STARTERS IN RACES ON SATURDAY.

The season in the bay seemed to get into its stride at a bound on Saturday. Up to then things had been taken very quietly; now every yacht or boat that could start did so, and many cruising craft also were out under sail. The day was bright, with the wind fresh from N.E., veering in the later afternoon to E., even to E. by S.

LEILA SCORES IN R.A.Y.C. MATCH.

Leila, Zaida and Mimosa came over from Howth, and, with the Dublin Bay class turning out strongly, there was a start of 11 boats at 3 o'clock. A dead beat out to the South Bar buoy scattered the field in a striking fashion; in fact, the race was decided on this leg. Leila did best of all, and Hera was next best. There was a long tail to the race at the close of the first round, and at the finish also, which was timed:—

GERALDINE COMMENCES WELL.

Each of the other races of the afternoon was under D.B.S.C. auspices. The beat to the Bar buoy did not affect the 21-Footers as much as the smaller class, and Geraldine, out for the first time this year, and, with her owner at the tiller, led round that mark for the remainder of the race. The start was at 3.5 p.m., and at the close of the first round Maureen was second, with Garavoge and Oola next in order. The short second round altered these positions, Maureen going last. Finish:—

	H.	M.	S.
Geraldine (winner)—Dr. W. M. A. Wright	5	21	30
Garavoge (2nd prize)—Lord Glenavy	5	21	47
Oola—Mr. F. E. Bermingham	5	22	26
Maureen—Miss H. E. L. Plunket	5	23	38

ANOTHER WIN FOR PANSY.

The Wags sailed the harbour course and went away, 14 in number, at 3.20 p.m. They had to sail four rounds, and the crux in each round was the beat from the jetty buoy to the guardship buoy. Coquette led at that point the first time. On the second round and at that mark Pansy robbed her of the position.

On the final round Phyllis challenged Coquette's second place at the same point, and some luffing followed between the two on the leg to the coal harbour, and also up the fairway to the winning line. Pansy won easily, and at the line flew a protest (against Anne, it is understood). Finish:—

GOLF.

ANOTHER BOBBY JONES.

LITTLE'S WONDERFUL PLAY IN THE AMATEUR FINAL.

LAWSON LITTLE, a son of an officer in the American Army, is now on the Atlantic with the Amateur Championship trophy in his possession.

This is the fourth, and by far the greatest, triumph by an American. The new champion, who is twenty-three years of age, in the final round played golf that would have defeated any player in the world. It was golf that created a world's record which may stand for decades. Little won by fourteen up and thirteen to play in a thirty-six holes' match, the largest victory ever recorded in the championship.

He won ten holes out of the first thirteen, which had never been accomplished in the final. He never lost a hole, which is unprecedented in the final of the championship.

The American went round Prestwick in 66 strokes on his first round, and for the twenty-three holes he had an average of 10 under 4's.

The record of the course (69) was made by Macdonald Smith, the Scottish-American professional, in the Open Championship of 1925.

Little drove great balls. He hit one shot which finished where he did not intend it to be. That was at the thirteenth. He found the bunker, but so splendid was his recovery that he won the hole in the par figure.

The final was a triumph for American golf and American methods.

"A GREATER GOLFER THAN 'BOBBY' JONES."

Little's victory was so impressive that there arises the question of how he compares with "Bobby" Jones. Mr. Robert Harris, the former Amateur champion and a captain of the British team in America, who refereed the match, had ample opportunity to see both players. He said: "I consider Little is a greater golfer than 'Bobby' Jones, and will be still greater. He is much stronger, and has achieved victory so early!"

It was a wonderful day for the close of the championship. The crowd was under complete control, and in the closing stages the attendance must have been nearly ten thousand. Late enthusiasts, expecting to see a full afternoon's play, arrived in hundreds and were disappointed to learn it all was over. The Marquess of Ailsa deputised for the Prince of Wales and presented the cup and medals to the winner and runner-up.

The previous record for a British amateur championship final win was made by Mr. Robert Harris. In 1925 he won by thirteen up and twelve to play against Kenneth Fradgley at Westward Ho!

HOW HE DID IT.

Both players took irons from the first tee, and hit perfect shots. They were on the green with their seconds, but the Scot took three putts, and Little, with a four, secured the lead. At the short second both reached the green from the tee, and a half in three resulted. The American hit a great second over the Cardinal bunker at the third, and his shot was only seven yards from the flagstick—two shots for a distance of five hundred yards. He toled the putt, and got an "eagle" three. At the fourth (the Burn) the Scot drove into a bunker, and with his recovery, went into the Pow Burn. He dropped another ball in the bunker, played out and took four to reach the green. The American, with another fine second to within three yards of the hole, was not asked to hole out—three up.

Little was over the Himalayas with his tee shot to the short fifth. Wallace was bunkered, and his recovery went over the green and in the rough. With his third he pitched to within two feet of the hole. The American got a three for a win. Little won the sixth in a "birdie" three to a four, by holing an eight yards putt—five up Wallace was short with his second to the seventh, and Little narrowly escaped a bunker. They were both on the green in three and the hole was halved in five. The eighth was halved in four, each player reaching the green and taking two putts. Little won the ninth in four to five to take a lead of six holes.

With two fine wooden club shots to the tenth and a chip to the hole-side, the American won the hole in four to five. At the short eleventh Wallace took three putts, and

(GAELIC GAMES ON PAGE FIVE.)

Little, with a par three, became eight up. Little played his first bad shot at the twelfth, where his iron found a bunker. He played a great recovery, however, and hit the hole with his six yards' putt. Wallace, never in sight of a half, fell further into arrears. A win in four to five at the thirteenth, and Little assumed a double figure lead. At this hole Wallace was short with his second. The American laid his mashie niblick three yards from the pin and got a four. Little, with his niblick, hit the hole at the fourteenth, and Wallace, although he holed a ten yards' putt, lost the hole—eleven up. A half followed, and Little chipped dead at the sixteenth for another win in three to four. The American's tee shot to the seventeenth hit a policeman. The ball would have gone into a bunker there, and he was lucky to get a half in four.

REMARKABLE FIGURES.

At the eighteenth Little drove the green. Wallace was short and in the rough. The Scot played a great pitch to within a yard of the hole, and the American conceded his opponent the putt. Thus the hole was halved and the American finished the first round with the lead of twelve holes.

The figures of the first round were:—

Little—Out: 4 3 3 4 3 3 5 4 4—33 In: 4 3 5 4 3 4 3 4 3—33. Total, 66.

Wallace—Out, 5 3 4 6 4 4 5 4 5—40. In: 5 4 6 5 4 4 4 4 3—39. Total, 79.

The American played the better approach to the first hole in the second round. He got down in three to four and increased his lead to thirteen. The second was halved in three, both holing putts of three yards. The third was halved in four after both had played their run-up shots dead. The American holed a ten yards' putt at the fourth for a "birdie" three, to win and become dormy fourteen. Wallace was on the edge of the green from the tee at the short fifth and Little was in the middle. Wallace placed his long putt against the hole, and Little made certain of a half and the match by putting to within inches of the hole.

Little—Out: 3 3 4 3 3 (16 for five holes).
Wallace—Out: 4 3 4 4 3 (18 for five holes).

GARDEN, FARM, BEES, ETC.

FLOWER GARDEN.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says:—

Herbaceous border will daily become more interesting, and at the same time much more attention will have to be paid to them. Tying and staking will be the principal items, and ultimate success will depend on the way this is performed. Strictly avoid the common practice of "bunching," or tying up a number of shoots to one stake, as much of the beauty of the plant is lost if tied into a wisp. Dahlias, which were left in the ground during winter, are now pushing through the mounds of ashes. The latter may now be removed, and any weak or superfluous shoots cut away. Keep a sharp look out for slugs, which are unusually active since the change in the weather. The time is rapidly approaching when we will be consulting the best methods of arranging our summer bedding plants to have good effect. This work will necessarily be much later than usual this year, owing to the general lateness of the spring display. Clear off wallflowers, etc., as soon as they begin to get shabby, and carefully lift and replant Tulips gone out of flower in some position where they can be allowed to wither down gradually; and get the beds turned up roughly for a few days before bedding out, working in some short manure in the operation. Violas are extremely beautiful this season, and where they are to remain for the summer bloom they will require careful watching to see that no spent blooms or seed pods are allowed to remain on the plants. It is a good plan to go over them occasionally, cutting off every flower to give them a rest for a week or so. This will be found to prolong the season of bloom. Bedding plants in the frames or reserve ground will require constant attention until the beds are ready for their reception. See that they are not allowed to suffer from want of water.

A SHILLING will provide a magnificent display next spring; sow now Wallflower Seed, Fire King, Golden Monarch, Scarlet Emperor, Blood Red, Orange Bedder, Rose Queen, etc. packets 3d., 6d. and 1/- each; also strongly recommended Jerusalem Stock, true light pink, packets 6d. and 1/-.—Drummond's, 57 and 58 Dawson street, Dublin, and Carlow.
